

Budget Committee Appears Closely Divided On Wages

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature's Appropriations Committee appeared to be closely divided Monday over an impending effort to raise the level of salary increases previously approved for state employees.

Sen. Wayne Ziebarth of Wilcox, who was absent when the committee last week adopted a policy providing an average annual salary hike of $300 for all employees, is expected to raise the issue Tuesday.

Ziebarth has previously stated his desire to amend the salary policy to provide some administrative flexibility for percentage increases.

Although Ziebarth declined Monday to discuss the form which his motion may ultimately take, corridor conversation among committee members centered on the possibility of a $200 flat increase for all employees plus authority to grant an average merit hike of 3%.

If such a policy were adopted, it would tend to provide both lower-paid and higher-salaried state employees with some advantages.

The $200 flat increase would assist lower-paid employees more than a blanket percentage hike; the 3% merit increase would benefit higher-salaried employees more than a blanket dollar figure.

A proposed $300 average wage hike for fiscal 1972-73, accompanied by a fringe benefit provision under which the state would purchase a $5,000 life insurance policy for employees not presently insured by their state agency employer, was earlier endorsed on a 6-2 vote.

A $300 average salary increase was also built into the current budget for state agencies.

In addition to resolving the smoldering salary issue, the committee is scheduled Tuesday to make its budget decisions on the University of Nebraska and the state colleges.

Decisions on more than a dozen state agencies were forthcoming Monday.

Sen. John Savage of Omaha attempted to eliminate all funding for the state motor vehicle inspection program, but his motion was turned aside on a 3-6 vote.

As an alternative, the committee decided to lift both the cash fund and personal services (salary) ceilings for operation of the program by the Department of Motor Vehicles.

This, the committee reasoned, would give the department authority to expend as much of the revenue from the 25-cent state collection fee as it needs to in order to improve the operation.

Whereas the department will receive an estimated $267,200 in inspection fees during the next fiscal year, it had only requested authority to spend $155,000 for the program.

Savage, who authorized newsmen to use his executive session remarks, said the program as it is now operated is "cheating the public" and represents "one of the biggest frauds" ever imposed on the taxpayer.

Among other committee decisions:

—substantial approval of the budget request submitted by the Nebraska Educational Television Commission, including funds to restore the 13% cut in telecast time necessitated by fund shortages during the current year.

—full approval for an amended $996,386 budget requested by the Department of Economic Development, including financing for a new field services division which will coordinate outstate activities.

—endorsement of the Department of Roads' $103.7 million budget, none of it financed from the state tax-supported general fund. No general fund money for access roads to recreation areas was requested, and none was granted.

—approval, on the second attempt, for the governor's $201,549 budget request, including $5,100 for a press secretary.

—increased funding for improved maintenance of public use areas by the Game and Parks Commission, but at a level somewhat reduced from the agency's request, previously endorsed by Gov. J. James Exon.

—acceptance of the governor's request (except for salaries) for nearly $7 million for Crime Commission programs; only $401,426 of it will come from the general fund, including matching money for local subdivision federal grants.

Indians Near Dacca . . .

Pakistani General Says Troops To Die Fighting

By The Associated Press

Indian soldiers strengthened by two separate helicopter assaults are closing in on Dacca and an Indian spokesman said the East Pakistani capital will be under siege within two days. Inside the city, the Pakistani military commander said his troops would "fight it out to the last man."

The Indian military spokesman said infantry columns were advancing on Dacca from the northwest, the north and the east, fighting to within 15 miles of the beleaguered city at some points.

From Dacca, AP correspondent Peter O'Loughlin reported that the East Pakistani military commander — Lt. Gen. A. K. Niazi — vowed that his troops would defend Dacca "to the last man."

Niazi, surrounded by a small crowd of Pakistanis shouting slogans, said: "Either we live or we die. It make no difference."

The Indian spokesman said there would "be obstacles, but we will have the capacity to overcome them."

The 30,000-man Pakistani garrison at Dacca has been buttressed by straggling soldiers falling back from Indian victories on the way to the city, he said, but added: "There is no doubt that within 24 or 48 hours we will be in a very strong position around Dacca."

Radio Pakistan reported the helicopter-borne Indian troops descended into battle at Tangail, 50 miles northwest of Dacca, and Narsingdhi, about 30 miles northeast. A Pakistani spokesman in Rawalpindi claimed defenders took on the Indians and fighting raged at both points.

Within 6 Miles

But Indians in New Delhi and Calcutta contended the advancing Indian troops had already crushed the defenses at Narsingdhi and were continuing toward Dacca. Briefing maps in Calcutta indicated some Indians were as close as six miles from the city, but spokesmen refused to pinpoint their positions.

A government spokesman said Manekshaw sent his third surrender appeal in a week to the Pakistani leadership in the East.

'Blatant Violation'

In Geneva, Switzerland, the Pakistani mission announced it has informed the International Committee of the Red Cross of a "blatant violation by India" of the Geneva convention on the treatment of prisoners of war.

Nasrullah Mirza, deputy head of mission, said the complaint followed an alleged Indian threat that Pakistani prisoners of war would be handed over to the East Pakistani Mukti Bahini guerrillas "for butchery" unless Pakistani regulars at Comilla surrendered.

HOPES FOR AGREEMENT DIP

Money, Trade Big Questions

... U.S., French Chiefs Meet

By The New York Times

Angra do Heroismo, the Azores — Hopes for early agreement between Washington and Western Europe on currency realignments and trade receded here Monday after President Nixon held the first of two days of talks with President Georges Pompidou of France.

While the two presidents met for five hours of this sunny island in the middle of the Atlantic, the American and French finance and foreign ministers held parallel sessions. They looked toward a scheduled meeting of ministers of the 10 leading industrial nations in Washington Friday.

After the afternoon meetings, Treasury Secretary John B. Connally spoke to newsmen and stressed the apparent stalemate in discussions of currency realignment and trade.

The crux of the argument, discussed in broad outline Monday by the two presidents while the ministers dealt with the specifics, is whether new parities, or fixed values, could be assigned to the principal currencies after the United States undertook in August to reduce the dollar's worth in order to correct the American imbalance in trade.

Uncertainty Most Disturbing

But Connally, insisting that Washington is trying to push for a decision, said that if there was no resolution possible, then the world was entitled to know that, because the most disturbing thing of all was not fixed rates or floating rates, but uncertainty as to what was going to happen.

"In my judgment," he said, "we can't keep on month after month after month holding these Group of Ten meetings without some specific results. Now, we are going to go through a series of bilateral meetings between the President and heads of government and heads of state, and after that, if we can't then resolve it, in a reasonable time thereafter, then I think we ought to agree that we can't agree."

The differences between Washington and the Common Market and Japan on whether, how and when the dollar might be devalued as part of a worldwide realignment of the major currencies and shifts in trading patterns appear to most officials here to have reached a critical state.

While the European governments believed, following the monetary meeting in Rome earlier this month, that the United States had agreed, in principle to devalue the dollar by increasing the price of gold, Connally emphasized Monday that "there has been no commitment on our part to make such a decision" and "I, certainly, have made no such commitment."

Monday's meetings between Nixon and Pompidou were scheduled to be general consultations on allied policy in preparation for the President's planned visits to Peking in February and Moscow in May. The two leaders spent their 2½-hour morning session, discussing East-West relations, European security, the Indian-Pakistani war and the Indochina conflict.

Christmas: American Style

Captain Symmes' Yawning Hole

By BARBARA CRAIG

There is an old gravestone in a cemetery in Hamilton, Ohio. On it is chiseled: "Captain John Cleves Symmes was a philosopher and the originator of Symmes' theory of concentric spheres and Polar voids."

The writing on the gravestone conceals the true greatness of Captain Symmes, who died in 1829. The good captain was the man who found Santa Claus a home at the North Pole when the roly-poly gent desperately needed one.

Back in 1823, Clement Moore's poem, "A Visit From St. Nicholas" was published, and children began asking their parents where Santa lived. But the mothers and fathers could not answer the question because Moore failed to say where St. Nick lived in his poem.

Famous Letter

Now about that time, Captain Symmes wrote a famous letter, and mailed off copies to all the newspapers on the United States. He claimed there was a "Yawning Hole" at the North Pole. He believed it was possible for people to live in this hole at the top of the world.

Symmes wrote: "I ask 100 brave companions, well equipped, to start from Siberia in the fall season with reindeer and sleighs on the frozen sea. I believe we will find a warm, rich land stocked with vegetables and animals, if not men, on reaching one degree northward of latitude 82. We will return the succeeding spring."

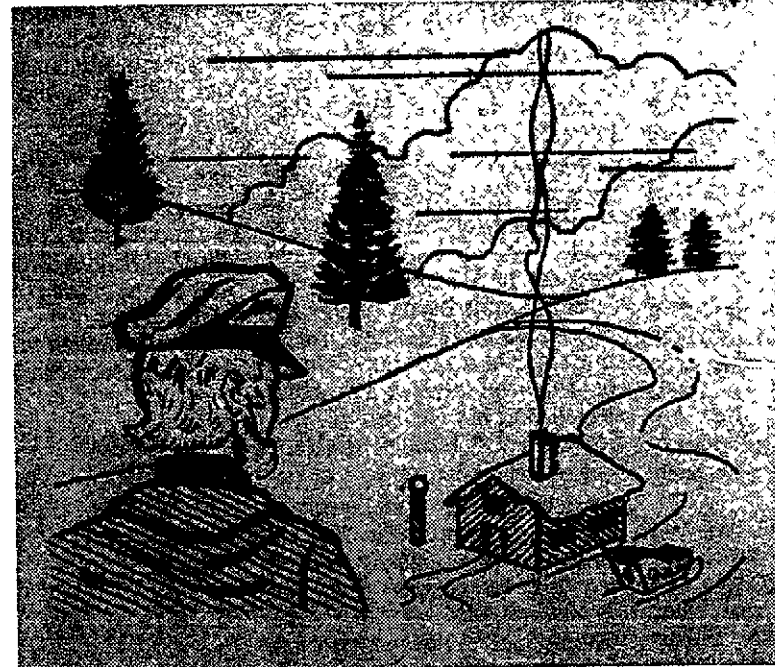

Naturally, Symmes' letter attracted a great deal of attention. Copies were sent to Europe and soon scientific societies everywhere were demanding he be allowed to lead an expedition to the North Pole to find his "Yawning Hole", where vegetables grew and men could live.

To raise funds for the expedition, Symmes, a retired Army officer and New Jersey native, went on a lecture tour. He visited several East Coast cities, but he failed to raise enough money.

Appealed To Congress

Next, he appealed to Congress for help, and was turned down. Finally, he returned to his home state of Ohio and asked for legislators there to help him. They refused too.

By then, all of Symmes' supporters had left him. As a result, in 1825, when the Czar of Russia offered to back his expedition, he was not even able to raise enough money for a boat trip to that country.

The broken-hearted Symmes never did reach the North Pole. He died four years later at the age of 49. However his "Yawning Hole" did serve a useful purpose. Once Symmes' giant valley at the top of the world became famous, parents had an answer ready when their children asked them where Santa lived.

In his letter, the good captain wrote of "a warm, rich land stocked with vegetables . . ." He changed the top of the world from a barren place to a happy place. He had given Santa a home.

That is why even today, when children ask where Santa lives, their parents will respond: "The North Pole."

Industrial Relations Court Constitutionality Questioned

By BOB GUENTHER
Star Staff Writer

The Seward School District in an appeal to the State Supreme Court maintained that the law creating the Nebraska Court of Industrial Relations is unconstitutional.

In its brief to the court, the Seward law firm of Blevens, Bartu & Blevens argued:

"There is no doubt whatsoever that the Legislature had constitutional authority to create an industrial commission. . .

"Unfortunately, however, the legislature instead of creating a 'commission' which would function as an executive branch of government, actually created a court and clothed it with full judicial powers. It has since functioned, not as an administrative agency, but as a member of the judicial department of government."

The school district's contention is part of a lengthy appeal of a Court of Industrial Relations ruling which granted the teachers, through their bargaining agent the Seward Education Association, base pay of $6,500 for the 1971-72 school year and the right to negotiate five non-salary items.

The school district held that the teachers should be bound by a 1970 contract which provided for a base wage of $6,400 per year for tenured teachers with a B.A. degree.

The Court of Industrial Relations was created by the 1947 Legislature to have jurisdiction over labor disputes involving employees of public power districts and public utilities. The 1969 Unicameral expanded the jurisdiction to include all employees of state and local government and expanded the number of judges from three to five.

Attorneys for the school district said the law violates Nebraska's constitution under which a court may be created only under Article V.

'Onus Of Impropriety' Placed At High Level

Washington (AP) — Citing disclosures that Secretary of Commerce Maurice H. Stans' foundation has a financial interest in a Thailand paper company, Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, said Monday there is an "onus of impropriety at the highest level of this administration."

Gravel, in a speech to the Senate, said that what concerned him most is the possible reaction of the American soldier in Southeast Asia.

"I think that American soldier would have a normal question," Gravel said. "Why is it that I am here under threat of losing my life when someone in high places in government has some obvious economic gains to make as a result of his activities in Thailand?"

Gravel's speech followed disclosure by The Associated Press that since taking office Stans had acquired, through a private foundation he controls, a $24,302 interest in the Siam

Kraft Paper Co.

At the time Stans Foundation acquired the interest, the company was operating on a U.S. Export-Import Bank loan and its board chairman was a Thai major general. The loan has since been extended and the company has received a second loan and management assistance from U.S. government officials.

"I think this clearly says that there was no effort made not only not to commit any impropriety but to leave an onus of impropriety," said Gravel. "I think the tragedy is that the onus of impropriety is left at the highest level of this administration."

Questioned about his investment in Siam Kraft, Stans said earlier it is a very minor investment, that he got no income from his foundation and that he couldn't conceive of any tax benefits, normally associated with such foundations, as being available to him.

"There is nothing whatsoever in this situation that could conceivably involve conflict of interest," Stans said.

From Nixon Appointee
The Stans Foundation obtained 2,660 shares in the company in 1969 from another Nixon appointee, Henry Kearns, now president of the Export-Import Bank. Stans and Kearns had been partners in a real estate venture in the Asian country. The partnership was dissolved in 1968, and the Siam Kraft transferred in July 1969 to pay off the real estate investment.

Prior to his confirmation, Kearns was questioned closely by a Senate committee about his own $750,000 interest in Siam Kraft Paper which he helped to found with a $14-million Export-Import Bank loan. He pledged to put the investment in trust.

Stans placed some of his stock holdings in trust, too, but he retained control of his foundation.

A Cambodian from Vietnam's Mekong Delta, Sgt. Danh Hun, who sometimes talks to the enemy on radio, says he eats their livers to give him strength, after killing them in battle. The sergeant is shown in a shelter Monday, at Phnom Baset, about 200 yards from North Vietnamese enemy lines. Eating part of an enemy's body is standard procedure in some primitive parts of the world.

Rising Majority Of Whites Approve Of Integration—Poll

(c) Chicago Daily News

A large majority of white Americans approve of integrated schools, hotels and restaurants and "bringing a black friend home to dinner," according to a nationwide survey of racial attitudes.

Nearly half say they accept racially mixed neighborhoods and marriages—a marked change from a similar study made in 1963.

The poll, reported in the December issue of Scientific American, is the fourth in a series of racial surveys conducted in the last 29 years by the National Opinion Research Center.

"In that time, the trend has been distinctly and strongly toward increasing approval of integration," the authors said.

"The trend has not been slowed by the racial turmoil of the past eight years."

Based on their findings, they conclude that a politician who campaigns on an anti-integration, backlash platform is making a gross blunder. "He is adjusting his style to something that does not exist," said the authors. Andrew M. Greeley and Paul B. Sheatsley, directors of the Chicago-based center.

The groups that changed the most in the last eight years, according to Greeley and Sheatsley, are the ones who gave the most bigoted responses in 1963—southerners, those whose education stopped at grammar school, rural residents and unskilled workers.

They still are not as liberal as college graduates, northerners and persons holding professional jobs, "but the difference is narrowing," the authors report.

They polled 1,500 people, selected by age, region, income, occupation, education, religion and ethnic origin in order to give an accurate sampling of American opinion.

The response to the question of racially integrated schools shows the dramatic change over the years:

—In 1942, 40% of northern whites said blacks and whites should go to the same schools. Only 2 of southern whites favored integration.

—In 1956, 60% of northerners and 14 of southerners said they accept school integration.

—In 1963, it was 72% of northerners and 33% of southerners —In 1970, when the last survey was taken, about 82% of northerners and 45% of southerners said they accept school integration. This means 22 times as many white southerners accept it today, compared with 1942.

Two other questions showed significant changes in attitude:

—In 1963, about 48% of the white Americans polled said they wouldn't object if a member of their family brought a Negro home to dine. In 1970, 65% said they wouldn't object.

—In 1963, about 35% said they didn't object to black-white marriages. In 1970, it was nearly 50%—about the same number who said they accept integrated neighborhoods.

"If present trends persist, it seems likely that both neighborhood integration and racial intermarriage will be accepted by 60% of the white population at the time of the next report by the National Opinion Research Center in about seven years," the authors said.

Sheatsley and Greeley, who is a Roman Catholic priest and specialist in ethnic studies at the center, point out the responses may reflect what people think they should say, rather than what they really believe. But they add:

"Nonetheless, even a change in what one thinks one ought to say is significant."

Russia Trains Editorial Guns On U.S. 'Gunboat Diplomacy'

•The New York Times

By HEDRICK SMITH

Moscow — The Soviet press agency Tass Monday night accused the United States of "gunboat diplomacy" and "gross blackmail" against India with its reported movement of an American naval squadron into the Indian Ocean from the Gulf of Tonkin.

In a dispatch from the United Nations, Tass used the strongest language to date against Washington during the Indo-Pakistani crisis.

Moscow, which has directed its sharpest propaganda against China during the conflict on the subcontinent, has previously warned that its security interests are affected because the Indo-Pakistani war is near Soviet borders and has urged other powers not to interfere. Since the General Assembly vote that overwhelmingly favored a cease-fire, Western diplomats believe that Moscow has become more sensitive about the actions of other powers in the dispute.

Less Formal

Monday night's commentary, though less formal than an official government statement issued through Tass, was the first specific followup to the earlier general warning issued through the press agency.

Tass dismissed as a "pretext" the American explanation that the aircraft carrier U.S.S. Enterprise, several destroyers and other vessels were moving to the Indian Ocean to help in the evacuation of Americans from East Pakistan.

This gross blackmail and pressure are regarded in United Nations circles as a policy contradicting the United Nations Charter," the Tass dispatch asserted.

Stoning Protested

In a related development, the Soviet press and radio Monday carried a report that the Soviet Union, which has been supporting India in the crisis, had formally protested to Pakistan over the stoning of Soviet embassy wives and children as they were boarding planes evacuating them from Islamabad Sunday.

Pakistani Ambassador Jamsheed K. A. Marker, told reporters that his government had already apologized for the incident and had begun an investigation.

He added that Pakistani police had broken up the anti-Soviet demonstration.

But the Soviet version, based on a Tass report from Rawalpindi, was that an "anti-Soviet provocation was staged with the connivance of Pakistani authorities at Islamabad airport" and with the evident intention of adding strains to the already tense relations between the two countries.

Soviet, Indian Foreign Affairs Officials Meet

Moscow (AP) — D. P. Dahr, senior Indian foreign policy planner, met for 3½ hours Monday with Nikolai Firiyubin, Soviet deputy foreign minister, to discuss the India-Pakistan war.

Indian sources said the talks ranged over events leading up to the war, the progress of military operations and international reaction to the conflict.

While Dahr is in Moscow, the first deputy Soviet foreign minister, Vasily V. Kuznetsov, a chief Kremlin troubleshooter, is in New Delhi for conferences with Prime Minister Indira Gandhi and other Indian officials.

Jackie's Cousin Lives In An 'Unsanitary' Mansion

East Hampton, N.Y. (AP) — A cousin of Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis says she won't be forced out of a 28-room mansion here which Health Department officials claim is unsanitary.

"They're not going to force us out," said Edith Beale, 55 of a threatened eviction action.

Miss Beale and her mother, Edith Bouvier Beale, a sister of Mrs. Onassis' late father, John Vernon "Black Jack" Bouvier III, have lived in the mansion for years.

Last month, Health Department officials said the house was unsanitary with human and cat excrement, piles of empty dog food cans, cobwebs and fleas.

Neighbors had complained that it was a health hazard and, after an inspection, the department told the Beales to clean house.

Last week, the health officials reported conditions worse and threatened to evict the Beales if necessary.

Jackie Works With Slum Kids

New York (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis spent part of last spring working as a volunteer in a shelter for slum children in East Harlem, it was revealed Monday.

A spokesman for the center, the McMahon Memorial Temporary Shelter operated by the New York Catholic Charities, confirmed that Mrs. Onassis had worked there, but said she had asked that it be kept quiet.

Nancy Tuckerman, secretary to the former First Lady, said even she hadn't known about the work until a newspaper called to ask her about it and she checked it out with Mrs. Onassis.

Mrs. Onassis worked with children one day a week during the early spring and summer.

Sources Say N. Viets Prepare Big Offensive

By GEORGE ESPER

Saigon (AP) — North Vietnam is preparing a major offensive into South Vietnam's central highlands, probably timed to embarrass President Nixon during his February visit to China, diplomatic sources said Monday night.

In a wide-ranging review of the military and political situation in Indochina, the high-level sources also made these assessments:

—The North Vietnamese likely will launch a second major offensive in the northern sector of South Vietnam shortly after the Republican and Democratic national conventions next summer in another show of strength aimed at influencing the presidential election in November.

—Hanoi would like to see Nixon defeated in his bid for reelection, and any Democratic candidate would be more acceptable to the Communist side.

—No progress is seen at the Paris peace talks during the next year. It is believed Hanoi will stand pat with its so-called seven-point peace program — unacceptable to the U.S. side — until it sees how the U.S.

World News

North Vietnamese forces are poised to strike across South Vietnam's central highlands because this is the only region where the enemy is capable of launching a major attack at this time.

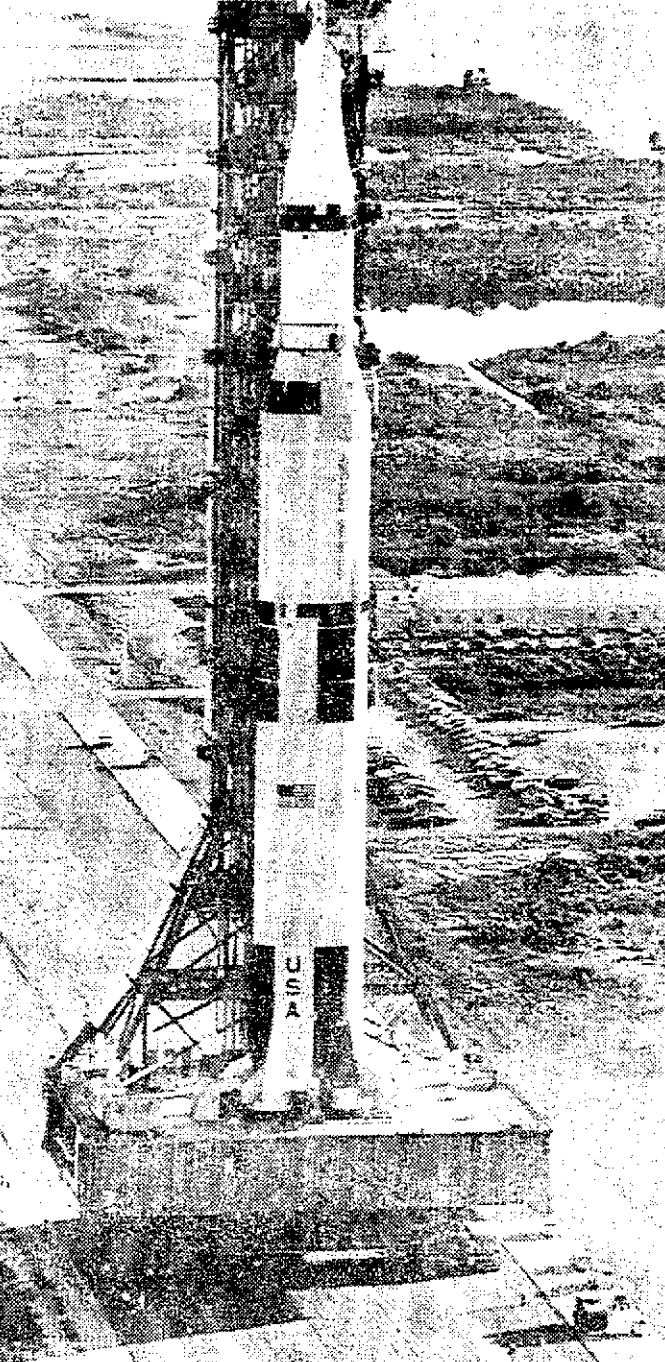

The sources ruled out any offensive in the northern sector below the demilitarized zone at this point because it is the wet season in that region, while the dry season prevails over the remainder of South Vietnam. But just the opposite conditions will exist next summer when an enemy offensive is expected in the northernmost quarter of South Vietnam.

Infiltration Ebbs

North Vietnamese troop infiltration, the sources added, has dropped to its lowest point since the Tet offensive in 1968 when 250,000 enemy soldiers were reported to have poured southward.

About 68,000 North Vietnamese troops came down the Ho Chi Minh Trail during the past year compared to 100,000 the previous year, the sources disclosed.

As for Cambodia, it was understood that the Nixon administration would like to see the ailing Premier Lon Nol replaced.

Mattingly Says Space Program Just Starting

Cape Kennedy (UPI) — Apollo 16 astronaut Thomas K. Mattingly watched the next to last Moon rocket move to its oceanside launch pad Monday and said the space program is just beginning.

Mattingly, John W. Young and Charles M. Duke are scheduled to set out March 17 on the nation's fifth Moon landing expedition Monday's move marked a major step in launch preparations.

The final Moon mission is set for next December. It will be followed in 1973 by the eight-month Skylab space station program.

After watching Apollo 16 leave its assembly building on the back of a massive tractor, Mattingly told a crowd of 10,000 onlookers that he recently inspected full-scale models of the Skylab and was impressed with its capabilities.

"You can't escape the impression and belief that we have just taken our first baby steps," he said. "I can tell you the space program is just beginning."

After Skylab, the Space Agency hopes to have a space shuttle orbital transport under development.

Court: Indigent Must Be Given Trial Record

Washington (UPI) — The Supreme Court ruled unanimously Monday that states must provide a convicted indigent with a free copy of his trial record in nonfelony as well as in felony cases.

Justice William J. Brennan Jr. emphasized in an opinion for the court that the trial transcript need not be made available automatically but only after an individual's claims to it have been properly considered.

The ruling came in the case of Jack L. Mayer who was convicted of violating two Chicago ordinances and fined $250 on each offense. Illinois denied him a free transcript for appeal purposes on the ground that state court rules allow one only in felony cases.

Mayer's claim now goes back to state courts.

Pentagon, Packard said, "Political." It was a reference to the hostility of politicians to Pentagon plans to shut down military facilities within their districts.

The disclosure, however, prompted no new plans to close any military bases. Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird said at the joint news conference that no plans were in the offing to mothball any military facilities in the foreseeable future.

Packard's resignation, announced Saturday by the White House and effective Monday, was for strictly personal reasons and involved no differences with Laird or the administration. Packard made this clear at a news conference at which he praises President Nixon and his conduct of both domestic and foreign affairs.

The defense chief said at the news conference that there are some in Congress who feel the Pentagon has already moved too fast in cutting down on defense-related employment.

The impact on the economy has been tremendous, Laird said. He noted that 2.7 million military, civilian and defense-related jobs in industry have been eliminated with the winding down of the Vietnam war.

Foreign Aid Bill Heads For Floor

Washington (UPI) — The House Rules Committee Monday cleared for floor action a $2.9 billion foreign aid package that leaders hoped would lead to a mid-week adjournment of Congress.

Inserted as a sweetener in the bill was $300 million for military loans to Israel, which Chairman George Mahon, D-Tex., of the House Appropriations Committee said would make it easier to get the measure through the Senate.

Dime-A-Vote Bill Agreed

Washington (AP) — Senate-House conferees agreed Monday on a compromise bill to limit campaign spending. A Republican conferee said President Nixon will sign the measure if both branches of Congress accept it.

The bill would keep the equal-time broadcasting law in force — thus virtually eliminating any chance for radio-TV debates between major presidential hopefuls.

Senate OKs Measure To Hike Federal Pay

Washington (UPI) — The Senate Monday approved a compromise bill to extend President Nixon's authority for economic controls, grant military and civilian government workers a Jan. 1 pay boost, and pave the way for millions of workers to collect retroactively raises blocked by the wage-price freeze.

The measure, worked out earlier in the day by a House-Senate conference committee, was sent to the House, which was expected to approve it Tuesday. Nixon's approval was assured even though he had ordered a postponement until June 30, 1972, of the $1 billion pay raise for federal employees.

No firm estimates were available on just how many workers might qualify for retroactive pay raises for those lost during the wage-price freeze from Aug. 15 to Nov. 13.

But Joseph C. Lewis, a spokesman for the House Banking Committee, said the compromise legislation would permit back pay increases for most of the teachers and other workers who lost them.

A National Education Association lobbyist estimated that up to 2 million teachers — out of about 2.2 million — might qualify and said this could result in an additional cost to schools of up to $250 million.

Extra Jobless Benefits Agreed On

Washington (AP) — Legislation for a special extension of unemployment benefits in areas of high joblessness was approved Monday by a Senate-House conference committee.

It would provide for 13 extra weeks of benefits, at federal expense, in states where the number of insured unemployed and of those who had exhausted their normal benefits reached 6.5% of the labor force.

The program would end July 1, 1972.

Reason For Return Of Hairy Look Pondered

By ROBERT PETERSON

At the end of the 19th century nearly all young men in the Western World tried to look as old as possible. Afraid of not being taken seriously, they acquired as quickly as possible the attributes of dignity, such as a fat tummy, waistcoat, a heavy watchchain, a walking stick, and of course a mustache and beard.

Browse through the family album and see how your great, great-grandfather looked as a young man. He may have been well under 40 but yellowed photographs show him with flowing hair and whiskers, looking ancient and pompous.

The turn of the century brought the clean-shaven look. Young men ridiculed mustaches and beards and became devotees of the safety razor which dispatched facial stubble with efficiency and ease. Up until the 1950s a young man with a beard or a mustache was marked as off-beat and peculiar.

But look what's happened. Today you can't walk a block without seeing young males who look like your great, great-grandfather in the family album, or who are dead ringers for the Bible's bearded disciples.

Why do modern young men choose to wear long hair, mutton chops, mustaches and beards? Do they feel they look handsomer this way? Are they trying to appear older than they are? Are they attempting to show their disenchantment with contemporary styles? Are they rebelling at the effort required in remaining clean-shaven? Can anyone say for sure why the hairy look has come back in vogue after some seven decades? If so, this column would like to know.

We've visited many housing projects for elders which cost more than they should have simply because of the unusual designs cooked up by imaginative architects. We were thus interested in this comment from Dr. Jan van Ettinger, an eminent housing authority in Rotterdam, Holland:

"The need for decent housing for elders is so great everywhere that we must use greater standardization of design. Mass production is the only way to get building and construction costs down. And while some architects wail about designs, most people who are going to live in such housing don't mind a bit — they're more interested in getting decent housing at a price within their limited budgets."

He's right. Most people don't mind monotony. Look at the millions of identical autos on the roads and the millions of identical toothbrushes and television sets. When it comes to basic commodities, people are more interested in service—at a price they can afford—than in individuality of design. If standardization of design can result in greater production of moderate priced housing for our growing number of elders, let's by all means welcome it.

"If you ever run out of elderly people with unusual occupations," writes a leader in Indiana, "just go into any genealogical library and you will find the finest, most dedicated group of elders in the world. People along in years who become interested in family histories are too busy to grow old mentally."

"They have respect for the past and admiration for the present. And the work they do in compiling genealogical data will be cherished in the future."

Vanocur Tells Reason For Quitting NBC

New York (UPI) — Former NBC anchorman Sander Vanocur said Monday he quit the network after 15 years because he came to the conclusion that broadcast commentators are used as transmission belts for the views of established authority.

Writing in the current issue of Esquire Magazine, Vanocur said he suffered irreconcilable conflicts of conscience after visiting Vietnam in 1965 and again after the 1968 Democratic National Convention.

"I knew that we would be mired for years in Vietnam," he wrote. "But in the name of objectivity, or more accurately stated, in the name of staying on the air, I could not scream 'liars.' Or could I? I think I should have tried."

He resolved early doubts by acting as "a simple transmission belt for the views of established authority" but incidents of violence in Chicago resulted in commentators being used "as transmission belts for the views of a dissenting large minority" for the first time, he said.

After that, Vanocur wrote, he was less able to acquiesce to restraints, however subtle.

"It was primarily because I could no longer maintain a healthy integrated attitude toward what I was doing with myself that compelled me to decide to leave NBC."

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

While not very unexpected, it is interesting to note the reasons given by consultants to the Democratic State Central Committee in explaining a recommendation against a statewide fund drive at this time. The consultants were asked about prospects for a drive to solicit five-year party support pledges.

If undertaken, said the consultants, there would be the potential for raising some $1 million. Obviously, this would be a big boost to party candidates but it was reported by consultants that the party lacks the organization now and the drive lacks sufficient overall acceptance to make the project feasible at this time.

Alternatives were suggested that would greatly improve party financing in the immediate future but relying mostly upon established party fund-raising programs. At this point, the central committee has made no decision on the matter.

Both the overall acceptance and the matter of organization relate to this statement by consultants: "It is more difficult to organize a broad-based campaign within the Democratic party than it is in the Republican party. This is due to several factors. The primary ones are that Republican men and women generally have more contacts, influence, civic organization experience and time than Democrats — available time being probably the biggest factor."

That statement reflects the generally assumed status of the parties at the national level, although it may not accurately reflect the status of the parties in Nebraska.

In Nebraska, the situation is one that can be applied in the financial sense but not necessarily in terms of number of voters. Nationally, it applies both financially and for voters.

Since wealth constitutes the smaller number of people in the nation, a preponderance of support by it gives a party no numerical superiority in terms of registered voters. Thus, while Republicans enjoy a high degree of support among the wealthy in the nation, their grass roots support is not considered as strong as that of the Democrats.

Thus, the financial picture nationally does reflect what is considered to be the normal base of voting support among the people of the country for the two parties. As a result, the Democratic party seeks to capitalize, rightly or wrongly, on the theory that it is the party of the common man.

This, of course, is good politics. There are far more of "the people" than there are of well-heeled business, industrial and professional men and women. This would give Democrats an edge in the voting, regardless of finances, and that is the final goal of all politics.

In Nebraska, some of this is no doubt true but not to the extent that it is nationally. While Republicans in Nebraska may find more strength in higher income circles than Democrats, the GOP does well here in all economic categories.

Thus, the GOP in Nebraska has a stronger base both in terms of financial support and voter support. From this, it is obvious that Democrats have their work cut out for them in the great state of Nebraska and their attention to financial affairs needs to be a high priority item with them.

Assuming any relationship at all between party support and political influence, the financial picture both in Nebraska and the nation demonstrates the growing concern over campaign contributions. It might be argued that if Democrats have financial problems and the GOP does a better job in this area, then that is the problem of the Democrats.

But this ignores the historic economic conflicts that have always been a part of American life and the social and political complications of those conflicts. Wealth never has been, is not now nor ever will be an end unto itself.

When it has been a thing unto itself, we have had such developments as the American labor movement and the Populist political movement. Today, we are in the early stages of a movement to equalize financial matters as between the national political parties.

The movement stems from the conviction among a growing number of people that wealth cannot be permitted to be a disproportionate influence upon our political life, that in the ideological and philosophical sense, it is not broadly enough representative to command a dominant role in our elective system.

Pollution Spreads From Inner Cities

WASHINGTON — The chief victims of pollution are the urban poor, whose plight has been ignored at all levels of government.

This is the confidential conclusion of a federal task force, which also warns that pollution from the inner cities can seep into suburbia through commuters' cars, downtown drinking water and personal contacts.

An exhaustive report, prepared for the Environmental Protection Agency, declares:

"City residents must breathe the emissions of suburban (commuting) automobiles. City children play in the streets over which the automobiles travel, inhaling the gases and dirt left behind..."

"Slums are plagued by rats because garbage is allowed to stand uncollected in unsanitary alleys for longer periods of time than in the more affluent neighborhoods."

"Dilapidated pipes and sanitary facilities... attract insects and rodents into the very rooms in which people eat and sleep. Insecticides are sprayed to combat the pests, but also attack the human residents... Lead-based paint chipping off walls, or accessible to children, causes lead-poisoning and mental retardation."

The study was ordered by EPA chief William Ruckelshaus, who appointed a special task force to investigate the "environmental problems of the inner city." The task force, in its confidential findings, lashes out at city, county, state and federal officials alike.

"To date, most efforts have been compensatory, palliative measures to correct problems created by the environmental mismanagement of the past," charges the task force.

Not even EPA is spared by its own task force, which urges Ruckelshaus to take drastic, immediate action against huge industrial plants, auto makers, oil companies and other government agencies.

Although the report is supposed to be released about January 1, it's being juggled like a hot potato by EPA bigwigs. Some environmentalists inside the agency fear its toughest passages may be toned down before the public gets a chance to see the report.

To prevent this, we'll publish in future columns more excerpts before they can be changed.

★ ★ ★ Agriculture Department Sycophants, eager to curry favor with their boss-to-be, printed up party invitations in the name of "Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz" at least three days before the Senate confirmed him by a narrow 51-44 vote. Perhaps worse, the party is being co-hosted by Butz and some of the lobbyists he'll be doing business with. As soon as the vote was announced, the bureaucrats dropped the invitations in the mail. They didn't even wait for the White House swearing in.

The lobbyists, who're paying for the booze and buffet for Butz represent the National Forest Products Association, American Plywood Association, National Association of Home Builders and National Lumber and Building Materials Dealers.

Hanoi 'Hardening'

The coming of another holiday season points up the grim feeling shared by American prisoners of war in southeast Asia and their families at home. Eventual freedom for the POWs is in more doubt now than it was last year.

Although North Vietnam has announced that it will permit the mailing of Christmas packages to U.S. prisoners, the North Vietnamese reportedly have "completely dashed" Nixon administration hopes that Hanoi had decided to improve the condition of the POWs.

State Department officials have interpreted some signs as meaning that the North Vietnamese have hardened their position of the prisoners. The signs include the fact that the amount of mail received from American POWs has dropped off markedly in the past nine months; prisoners thus far have not been permitted to take part in radio broadcasts and films as they have been in the past and the number of visits to North Vietnam by persons interested in freeing the POWs has been sharply reduced.

Administration sources speculate that Hanoi may be hardening its attitude because of its fears that President Nixon might try to deal behind North Vietnam's back when he goes to Peking next February. This might be the case, although both China and the U.S. have repeatedly suggested that there will be no deals made at the Peking summit conference and that no one should expect any. China has not wavered from its position that U.S. troops will have to leave Indochina before any talking is done. The hardening of Hanoi's position, if that is what has happened, can probably be explained as an attempt to speed up the withdrawal process by bringing public opinion pressures to bear on the administration.

Happier circumstances befell three other Americans, imprisoned on the Chinese mainland. China freed a civilian Army employee who was held captive for 19 years and a woman captured in 1968. The life sentence handed down for espionage of a third American was commuted to five years.

This can be seen perhaps as an effort by the Chinese to balance the invective poured on the U.S. by China in the United Nations in advance of the President's journey. But it probably shouldn't be seen as a hopeful sign for American POWs in North Vietnam.

No Debates For Terry

State Sen. Terry Carpenter said Sunday he will not share the stage with any of his adversaries for the Democratic U.S. Senate nomination. Carpenter explained why debates or joint appearances are out of the question in a statement that characterizes what the public has come to expect from him:

"It will be my policy that what I think of others aspiring to the same position is not important; that the only important thing is what do I stand for and what can the people of my state expect in the event I am nominated and elected to the U.S. Senate."

Furthermore, if he is the Democratic nominee, "this same procedure will be in effect insofar as the Republican nominee for the U.S. Senate is concerned," Carpenter said.

As a practical matter, politically speaking,

Savannah Sets Example In Preservation Of Fine Old Architecture Of Early Years

SAVANNAH — A few years ago, the Shriners of this city decided to build a new temple and sell the splendid 19th Century mansion on Monterey Square that they had been using. A buyer was right at hand — Armstrong Junior College, which was established in a block of old houses on another side of the square, and which wanted the Shriners' property for a parking lot.

Instead, the Historic Savannah Foundation bought the Shriners' old mansion. Later, when Armstrong continued to press for expansion, new and bigger property for the institution — now a state college — was found. Historic Savannah, for $235,000, bought all of the college's buildings on Monterey Square. These and the Shriners' mansion were resold to buyers who promised to restore them according to the Foundation's standards. The net result has been that the whole area has been restored, returned to private residential use, and now is one of the most beautiful areas of this or any other American city.

This kind of thing would be remarkable in most places, but in Savannah it has become almost commonplace. Just recently, for example, the Foundation, which is privately supported, paid $43,500 for a historical old house that was falling into ruin. It was restorable and had a fine location on Perry Street, facing Chippewa Square with its Daniel Chester French monument to Georgia's founder, James Oglethorpe.

The foundation has just resold this house for $36,000 to a buyer who met its requirements. The net loss of $7,500 on the transaction is considered a small price to pay for another piece of historical and aesthetic salvage in the heart of Savannah—a tree shaded, 2.5-square-mile area that includes the business district as well as extensive residential areas.

Around every corner here there is some heartening bit of evidence that, when a city cares, its heritage can be preserved—not at great sacrifice, nor at the cost of turning itself into a bloodless museum, but with benefit to all.

One block of flat-front houses called Garden Row was until recently in great disrepair, with each unit selling for about $2,500 10 years ago; now, with tremendous potential restoration, the shells of these historic houses (built about 1850) are bringing the historic foundation about $22,500 apiece. Again, when the fine old Victorian Hotel DeSoto declined badly and took its downtown neighborhood with it, a local group headed by Mills Lane of the Citizens and Southern Bank bought the property and brought in architect Ted Aeck of Atlanta to design a congenial new building; now, as the DeSoto Hilton, it not only blends acceptably with the historic district but is the centerpiece of a redeemed neighborhood.

In the city's Troup Ward—where the writer, Flannery O'Connor, used to live just off Lafayette Square—the Historic Foundation has even been able to use federal urban renewal funds not to bulldoze old houses, but to restore them to beauty and usefulness.

Property appreciation in the historic district is felt to have increased perhaps threefold in the last 10 years, and there are now said to be an increasing number of straight sales, without historic foundation intervention, to persons who plan to restore their new property.

Reid Williamson, the Foundation's Connecticut-born executive vice president, suggests several reasons why historic preservation has been so successful here. Ironically enough, one reason is that the economic boom of the 50's and 60's largely bypassed this old port city, relieving it of the rapid "urban development" that ruined the environment of so many American cities.

Moreover, Savannah retained many of its old families, and thus more of a sense of its own traditions. Even so, it took a shock to get historical preservation moving here, and local sources suggest that came in the 50's, when the old City Market was torn down to make way for a parking garage.

At about the same time, there was a threat to demolish the Davenport House, a magnificent red brick mansion built in 1818 on Columbia Square — which also features houses built in 1805, 1814, the 1850's, the 1860's, the 1870's and the 1890's.

But the Davenport House was saved, and the Historic Foundation now has offices in its basement.

Even earlier, in the 30's, Savannah allowed three of the original 23 town squares laid out in Oglethorpe's plan to be destroyed for a super-highway that never materialized. But the other 20 are still here, green and ringing with the shouts of children, living evidence that a city need neither decay nor accept ugliness and destruction as the price of progress.

Ecology Prayer

Savannah, Ga.

During the holiday season, it is especially fitting to recognize that our world faces imminent danger. Hopefully, this ecology prayer will inspire people to become aware of the problem. The preservation of the world should be everyone's business.

"Our Father in Heaven, in the name of progress we have spoiled Thy beauty and poisoned our air. We have catered to our industries while ignoring our most precious commodity—our people. Help us, God, to correct this evil imbalance before we die in our own progress. Impress upon us the seriousness of our plight and give us courage to overcome our weakness. Instill within the minds of our leaders a sense of urgency so they may act swiftly to preserve our good earth. Help us individually to do our part so we can leave our children a land rich in natural resources. We ask these things for the benefit of all mankind and for the glory of Thy handiwork. Amen."

Weak Tea

St. Libory, Neb.

An item in the morning paper says that all state employees should have a $300 raise.

What's the matter with 20 million U.S. citizens over 65 who can vote asking for a similar one? These aspirants come to out towns and tell a funny story and make promises about a raise in Social Security. Nixon advised six per cent. we were promised 15 per cent and received 10 per cent, but it really wasn't, because Medicare went up more than that.

Nixon has been in three years but the war is worse than ever and 40,000 men are dead, and there are more wars springing up. With a White House in Washington, one in Florida and one in California, he is so busy.

The last five days of the month, we water our tea and count our crackers. Now heat and electricity bills will be higher. Ask the sleek striped-shirt boys who come wooing our votes: "What about a 25 per cent raise, and our quota of food stamps mailed to us?"

Growing Up

Lincoln, Neb.

In regard to the objection of Rev. Charles A. Reimnitz to the production of "Hair" at Pershing Auditorium, where do people like this get the right to tell all consenting adults in Lincoln that they can't go to see such a stage production? Let people make up their own minds. People aren't forced to go.

My wife and I are 25 years of age and would love to attend the production if it is brought to Lincoln. People who think it is immoral and not righteous can stay home and watch TV. People like us with open minds can go and enjoy.

Just because we go doesn't mean we are going out and commit wild sex acts on O Street and smoke pot and take LSD. As far as the nudity, which lasts about four minutes throughout the whole show I can see that at home every day and it still hasn't warped my mind. The show won't change our beliefs in the great America we live in. We are going for the entertainment.

Omaha's City Council has banned topless dancers. The City Council is saying to the adults of Omaha, "You are not mature enough to go where you want and see what you want to see." People don't have to go to these places if they don't want to.

Nebraska should grow up with the times or lose more and more of the young. Nebraska is a great state and I for one will not ever leave, but there are many who are leaving because there are many more things to do in other cities and states. These are the 1970's, not the 1890's.

For Pleasure

Lincoln, Neb.

I agree, too, that we should have the pretty Christmas decorations and music, regardless of the cost. The thing is, even if we didn't have them, the money still wouldn't be given for poor folks, so nothing would be accomplished.

If all money used for pleasure were used for charity, of course a lot could be accomplished. But people aren't built that way. They might give money for a Nebraska float at the Orange Bowl, but they wouldn't send a like amount of money abroad where it is needed.

We might as well enjoy our pleasure

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

To Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Our son, 10, has had a terrible twitch in his eye and now it has gone to the whole side of his face (one side only). It all started when he developed a sty in the eye. The sty went away but the twitch remained, and now it seems that every time I look at him he is twitching. Can you give me any advice?—D.B.

This is probably a tic—a tic being a spasm of a muscle or group of muscles, not a painful spasm but, as you say, a twitch. These tics ordinarily affect the eye, face or shoulders. It's not unusual at your son's age. Boys more often than girls.

Quite possibly the discomfort of the sty started it, and it developed into a habit which progressed to the present situation. These tics are purposeless and I doubt that there is any organic trouble involved.

Keep in mind that emotional tension often lies behind a tic. Any number of things may be involved, such as competition from brothers or sisters, bickering, nagging, school worries, anything of that sort.

Criticism can prolong a tic, so the less you say or do to call his attention to it, the better. He probably will outgrow it, but I suggest that you quietly observe things in general, to see if there is any way to relieve him of whatever 10-year-old pressures he may be combatting.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Twenty years ago my gall bladder was supposedly removed. Last year I began having the same trouble and it seems to be getting worse. Why? My doctor says it is gall bladder and prescribes medicine that stops the pains. I tried to tell him I do not have a gall bladder, but he has only my word for it, and the scar. Is it possible to have the same trouble without a gall bladder?—Mrs. A.P.L.

Quite possible although fortunately not very frequent. But it does happen. Even with the gall bladder removed, you still have the common duct, which carries bile from the liver to the intestine, and it is possible for gall stones to lodge in that common duct.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have an elderly friend who takes digitalis for her heart and pills to prevent edema, and she gets along very well except that, whenever she visits a certain relative, within a week her ankles swell. She doesn't do anything she doesn't do at home. The relative has a water softener, and the water runs through large tanks of salt. The water doesn't taste salty, and the relative says there isn't any salt in the water. Can you explain this please?—J.L.

The water doesn't taste salty, and if you split hairs you could say that it doesn't contain salt—but the purpose of running it through the salt is to substitute sodium (from the salt) for the minerals which make the water "hard."

It's the sodium, rather than just salt, that must be avoided by folks who have too much water in the tissues (edema). If your friend drank only water that has NOT been softened when she visits that relative, she might find that her ankles wouldn't swell. She could use bottled water.

★ ★ ★ Dear Dr. Thosteson: My skin turns black wherever it is in contact with jewelry with a high non-gold alloy content. An 18-K ring leaves only a slight smudge. A costume jewelry watch and other 14-K rings create large dirty-looking areas for several inches surrounding the area of contact. This is not easily washed off except with soap, water and scrubbing. The same reaction occurs with silver service. I can take a clean spoon and actually "write" on my arm with it. Could you explain this? No one seems to have ever heard of it.—C. E.

It's not as uncommon as you may think. It is the result of a reaction of chemicals in perspiration (usually sulphides) and metals in the jewelry.

Pure gold does not easily combine with other things—but pure gold is too soft to make good jewelry so other metals are alloyed with gold to make it stronger and wear better.

Exactly why some people have traces of chemicals in the perspiration that cause a chemical reaction with metals, I do not know, but it is a complaint one encounters fairly regularly.

Jewelers, I understand, have pretty good success in overcoming the trouble by coating metal, where it comes in contact with the skin, with a transparent plastic, or coating it with rhodium.

As to table silver, the best suggestion I can make is to wash hands very thoroughly before dinner, and—this is important—dry them very thoroughly. The less skin moisture, the less chance of chemical reaction.

★ ★ ★ Dear Dr. Thosteson: What could you recommend for eczema around the eyes, ears, and on the neck?—R. R. P.

Nothing—except seeing a dermatologist or your doctor. "Eczema" is such a broad term that it can cover any number of conditions. The first thing is to find out exactly what it is. Cosmetics could be a factor.

★ ★ ★ Dear Dr. Thosteson: My wife suggests that I drink one quart of water "as such" each day. I don't touch the stuff, but drink two quarts of liquid daily in the form of decaffeinated coffee. Is this satisfactory without the "as such"—or perhaps asking the kidneys to overwork filtering out the water?—J.C.A.

There's no reason for drinking water "as such" if you prefer it flavored (with coffee, or anything else). It's important only that you get sufficient fluid regardless of the flavoring. It's possible to drink too much water, but it doesn't often happen. Just be guided by your thirst. It's a mighty dependable guide.

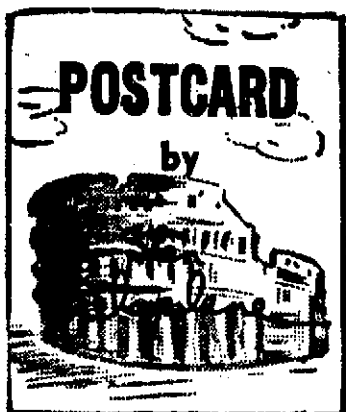

★ ★ ★ Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have Still's disease, though not to any serious extent, and have heard its cause quoted as everything from an inferiority complex to gonorrhea. I am also in the dark about the usual progress of this ailment, complications, etc.—D.S.

Still's disease is a form of rheumatoid arthritis affecting children. Its cause is unknown. It has certain characteristics unlike those of rheumatoid arthritis in adults—swelling of lymph glands, and spleen, and some others.

However—and this is the optimistic aspect—it tends to subside completely in about 80 per cent of patients.

★ ★ ★ Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible. Copyright 1971, Field Enterprises, Inc.

In the year 1965, the mink coat reached its peak of popularity. Every lady had a mink coat. Or was about to get a mink coat. Or said: "I wouldn't be caught dead in a mink coat. I mean, I think they're rather vulgar."

(Not many said this. And not many meant it.)

Finally there were lots of mink coats around. This infuriated everybody. Mink went out of style. Richard Nixon announced that his wife wore a cloth coat.

(Lively times around the White House when that was printed. "Richard! Come in here! I want to speak to you!")

Well, mink is back. To dinner the other night, brisk evening with a chick up to the chin and down to the ankles in precious mink.

She said: "Do you like it?"

I said: "What about the ecologists?"

A whole bunch of women have barked together and refuse to wear furs. The idea is to save wild animals. The mink, of course, is no longer wild. He is raised in mink farms on fishheads.

He is not an endangered species. His only danger is that they will turn him loose. He will have to go back to work for a living.

While mink was hitting the high of 1965, I did a lot of work on mink. I talked to a mink farmer up in Oregon.

He said: "The problem with a mink is he's nervous. And mean. And easily upset."

He had petitioned United Airlines to reroute its planes away from his mink farm.

It seemed that when the mink was in the heat of love, the planes put him out of action.

The mink is admiring his girl friend — in her mink coat. He proceeds to see if the earth really does move.

Overhead goes United's non-stop, San Francisco-Portland.

The mink jumps up and screams: "Enemy planes! Hit the dirt!"

The mink farmer said: "Then he is very apt to bite his partner. You get a couple of hundred minks biting each other, you're going to spoil a lot of mink coats."

It also interfered with the creation of baby minks.

I forget how it worked out. I think United made a detour. An airline that is all heart.

We went to the elegant Le Club on Nob Hill. Where else can you take a girl in a mink coat.

All kinds of fur coats were there. The trend to fashion is stronger than the urge to ecology.

A girl in mink has a lot of style. The mink coat is the cold weather muumuu. It envelops her.

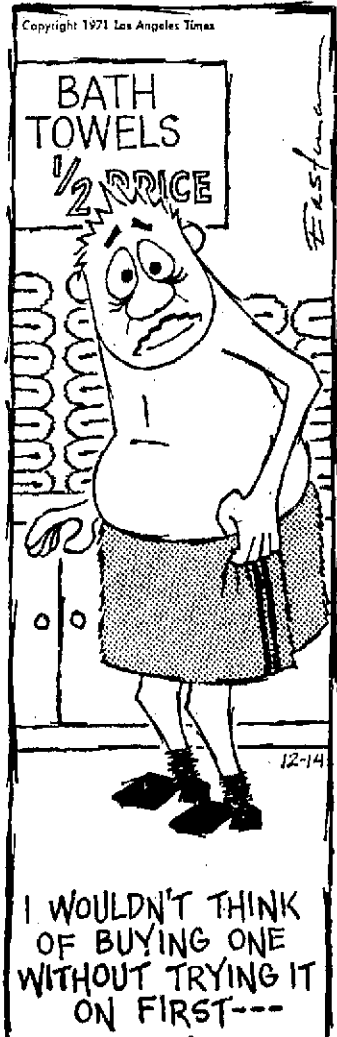

(As they say in the islands: "It's like your bank account. You know it's in there, but you don't know how much.")

I called up a fur man I know and he said: "You bet there's a big thing going on fur. I don't mean wild fur — you're not going to sell ocelot. I wouldn't even stock it. I mean, you never know when a lot of dames are going to throw a picket line on you."

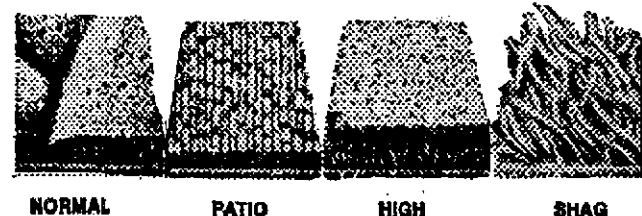

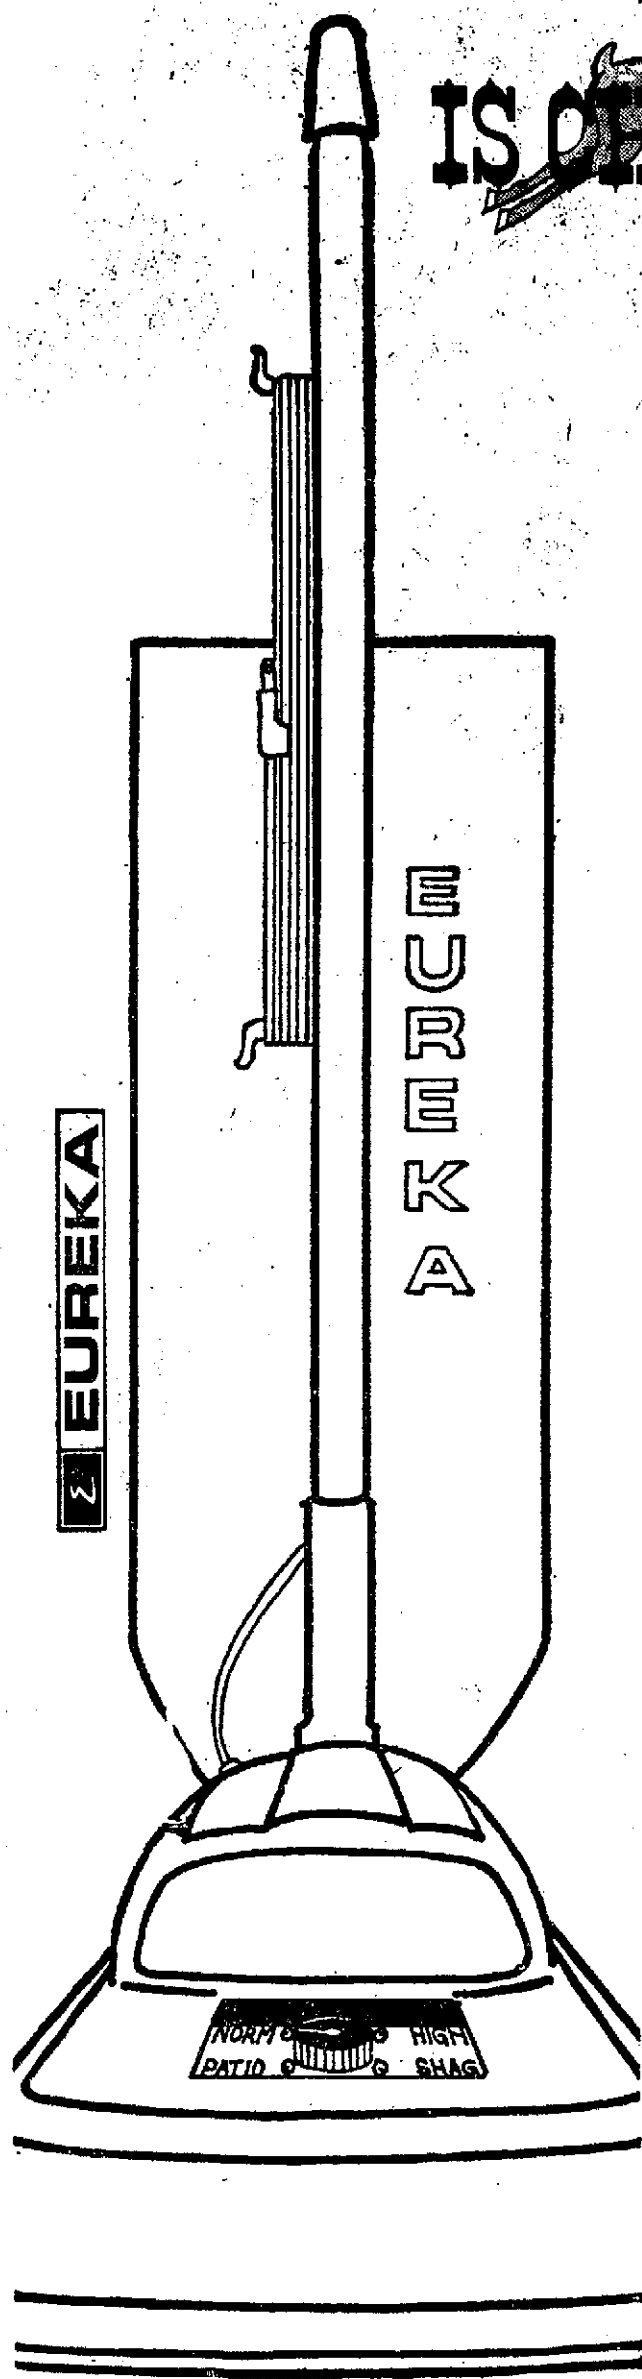

"But mink you raise like you raise chickens."

Federal Income Tax Law To Have 'Significant' Impact On Nebraskans

State Tax Commissioner William Peters said Monday a recently passed federal income tax break will have a "significant" impact on the Nebraska's income tax rate. However, he declined to speculate on any figures.

"We're not sure what exactly the impact will be right now. My office is working on what the effect of the federal measure will be," Peters said.

The tax commissioner also added that he was not sure when the State Board of Equalization would meet to consider adjusting the state's sales, corporate and income tax rates.

On Nov. 15, the statutory deadline, the board set the state's income and sales taxes at the 13-2 1/2% level pending passage of the federal tax break.

By law, the state now has 30 days to assess the impact of the federal measure and adjust the state's rates correspondingly. So sometime by mid-January Nebraskans can expect to have a larger amount of taxes withheld by the state.

The federal tax cut which was passed by Congress and signed by President Nixon late last week will increase the federal personal exemption from $650 to $675 for 1971 returns. And in 1972 it will again be raised by another $75 to $750.

Federal officials expect workers will notice the decrease in federal withholding after Jan. 15, and they also note that income tax refunds for 1971 will be larger.

The federal measure is important to Nebraska's tax rates, because the state's income and corporate tax rates are a percentage of what a person pays in federal income taxes. So since federal tax rates will go down, the state's revenue from the income and corporate tax will also decline. In order to make up the lost revenue, the state's income, sales and corporate rates must be increased.

Governor's Commission On Status Of Women To Hold Six Meetings

A series of six hearings across the state are being planned by the Governor's Commission on the Status of Women.

The commission said the hearings, dates to be announced later, will be held at Scottsbluff, Norfolk, North Platte, Grand Island, Lincoln and Omaha.

The commission said the delivery service satisfactory? Your suggestions for improvement of Newspaper Delivery Service are welcome. Notify Circulation Dept.

purpose of the hearings would be to gather information on how the status of women could be improved in Nebraska.

Britain Plans To Eliminate Mental Hospitals

London (AP) — Within 20 years Britain plans to scrap its mental hospitals, many of them asylums dating to the Victorian era. The only major institutions left will be security hospitals where dangerous patients are isolated.

Parliament the secretary for social services, Sir Keith Joseph, said most mentally ill patients will be treated in their own homes. Others will go to psychiatric units in general hospitals.

The main element in the redirection of mental care will be a stepping-up of community services, including social work, homes for the elderly, hostels, group homes and supervised lodgings.

Goal Told

The goal is to remove prejudice about mental affliction and help sufferers lead better lives as much as possible within the general community. Commenting on the proposals, the Guardian said: "There is greater acceptance now that there is nothing more shameful in suffering a nervous breakdown than in having an appendix removed."

The country's 116 mental hospitals have 116,000 patients. "In their way the vast Victorian mental hospitals led the world, but they are entirely isolated and often 10 miles or more from the homes of their patients," Sir Keith says.

The new scheme will be based on small units in district hospitals. The psychiatric wings, with about 120 beds, will be staffed by therapeutic teams each responsible for a population area of about 60,000. They will be supported by hostels provided by local authorities.

Day Centers

Day centers will treat outpatients.

Eventually, there will be about 230 district hospitals. Some have already opened.

"Close links with general practitioner services and local authority health and personal social services are essential," Sir Keith told Parliament. "The whole concept is that of a professional team approach. Complementary planning of hospital and local authority services is vital."

Members of the new therapeutic teams are to provide an emergency consultation at any hour, either in the hospital or in the community.

Going to move? Then notify the Circulation Dept. so you won't miss your paper. Be sure to give both old and new address.

Funding Of Secondary Sewage Treatment Plants To Continue

By United Press International
State Environmental Control
Director J. L. Higgins said Monday there is no question government financing of secondary sewage treatment plant construction projects would be continued.
"It's just a matter of working out the funding," Higgins said in an interview.
The subject of continued state-federal funding of the projects came up during a recent meeting of the State Environmental Control Council.

Member Concerned
Mrs. Margaret Sutherland, council member from Lincoln, expressed concern that state matching funds had not been earmarked in preliminary budget proposals for the next fiscal year.
This year's session of the Unicameral earmarked $6.6 million to cover the state's share in the funding program.

Under the terms of the program, the federal government provides 55% of the money and the state adds an additional
Higgins said it was correct no funds have been requested in preliminary proposals, but said continuation has already been promised.
"I had to agree it's not in the budget," the director said, "but the governor has committed himself to this as an on-going program."
The problem, he said, centers on exactly how the state's share will be handled in the future.

$1 Million Committed Higgins said by the end of the current fiscal year, while all of the earmarked money will have been committed to various local projects, only about $1 million in checks will have been written.
"We have to set up a program to finance this and yet avoid idle funds" actually committed but not spent, Higgins said.

He added meetings would begin this week with members of the governor's staff to work out an effective funding program.
"But one way or another,
there is no danger of Nebraska losing federal funds," he said.
"It amounts to a state administrative problem."
Mrs. Sutherland had also questioned whether Nebraska would be able to meet a federally imposed deadline of next Jan. 1 on secondary sewage treatment.

Only A Target Date
"I feel that is only a target date," Higgins said. "There are bound to be slippages."
He said some states have yet to launch construction programs. In addition, he said, there are a number of other states which will be unable to meet the target date even though programs are fully operational.

Higgins estimated Nebraska will need a total of $125 million to carry out the plant construction program, of which $38 million would be provided by state government.

Bill To End 'Pocketbook' Discrimination In Courts Outlined By Sen. Luedtke

By DON BEMAN
United Press International
State Sen. Roland Luedtke of Lincoln said Monday the 1972 Legislature may be asked to pass a measure he said would end "pocketbook" discrimination in the courts.

heard at government expense. "This would guarantee full access to the courts notwithstanding financial condition," the lawmaker said. "In other words, there would be no discrimination because of race, color, creed or pocketbook in our court system," Luedtke said. The measure has already gained preliminary support of the Legislature's Judiciary Committee, of which he is chairman, Luedtke said. "In substance, we've accepted the whole theory of the proposal," he said. He said a proposal in draft form may be ready for the committee to consider at its Dec. 22 meeting. If approved, it would be submitted to the Unicameral when it convenes in January.

"We are hoping it will be ready to go by next session," Luedtke said. In criminal law, Luedtke said, the concept of every person having the right to a fair hearing has long been accepted. That right has been provided either through court-appointed attorneys or through public defenders. Civil Cases But recently, the U.S.

Supreme Court has decided that right should also extend to civil cases, the lawmakers said. That concept has specifically been upheld in divorce cases, he said. In a divorce case, the proposal would allow the judge to assess court and attorney costs in advance to the husband if she is the filing party, Luedtke said.

Supreme Court rulings on the subject of the extension of the full rights to all people. This year, for example, he said because of a court ruling Nebraska adopted a law which allowed for installment payments of fines. The concept behind that ruling, he said, was that a man should not be imprisoned because he could not pay the fine.

THE LINCOLN STAR, TUESDAY, DEC. 14, PAGE 15

Do It Yourself—the personal touch

Editor's Note: The following directions have been provided by Mrs. G. W. Knutson, instructor of creative craft classes for the Consumer and Homemaking Education Division of the Lincoln Technical College.

Ladies of all ages who are included on your Christmas list will be delighted to find an attractive tote bag waiting for them under the tree, come December 25. A minimum of materials — 3/4 yard of 36" fabric or 1/2 yard of 45" fabric—is necessary to fashion the useful item that will be certain to please the lucky gal who receives it. Denim, sail cloth, poplin and canvas are suggested fabrics, although any material that does not fray badly may be used.

To prepare a 36" width of fabric, measure one piece 15" along selvage and tear crosswise (selvage to selvage). Measure one piece 4" and again tear crosswise. On 15" piece, cut off 4", leaving piece 15"x52" for the bag. On 4" piece, cut off 6", leaving a piece 4" x 30". Fold in half and cut, leaving two pieces 4" x 15" for the handles. Pockets or pocket may be made from left-over pieces if desired.

To prepare a 45" width of fabric, measure one piece 15" along selvage and tear crosswise (selvage to selvage). On this piece, measure over 32", cut or tear. This gives you one piece 15" x 32" for the bag. On remaining 15" piece, measure two pieces 4" wide. You now have two pieces 4" x 15" for handles.

Begin by constructing the handles from the 4-inch pieces. Stay-stitch ends at 3/8". Fold in half with right sides together and stitch 1/2" seam allowance. Press seam open with seam in center. Turn to right side. Turn in ends at stay-stitch line and press. You may top-stitch 1/8" for extra strength.

To fashion the bag out of the 15" x 32" piece, begin by bringing selvage edge to torn edge with right sides together. Block and press. Stay-stitch top edges at 1/4". With

ORANGE MOLASSES FRUIT CAKE

3 cups raisins
1 can (6 oz.) frozen orange juice concentrate undiluted
1/2 cup light molasses
2 cups mixed diced candied fruits and peels
3/4 cup sugar
1/2 cup butter or margarine
3 eggs
1 1/4 cups sifted flour

Apricot preserves (optional)

Combine raisins, orange concentrate and molasses in saucepan. Bring to a boil; reduce heat and simmer 5 minutes. Stir in candied fruits and set aside. Cream sugar and butter. Beat in eggs one at a time. Sift together flour, soda and spices. Blend into creamed mixture. Add fruit mixture and nuts. Mix thoroughly. Turn into greased and floured 8 1/2" tube pan. ### SPICED CRANBERRY BISCUIT BREAD

1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 cup milk
1 egg
3 cups biscuit mix plus
1/2 tsp. nutmeg
1/2 tsp. cinnamon
3/4 cup coarsely chopped cranberries
3/4 cup chopped walnuts
Combine brown sugar, milk and egg in mixing bowl. Beat in biscuit mix and spices with spoon until mixture is very thick and almost smooth. Fold in cranberries and nuts. Turn into well-greased 9"x5" loaf and egg in mixing bowl. Beat in pan. Bake in 350° oven 1 hour or until done. Cool on wire rack. Wrap tightly in plastic wrap and store overnight at room temperature. Serve sliced the next day.

wrong sides together, press 2 1/2" hem on stay-stitched edges. Clip at crease marks on both sides. Clean finish top of bag.

With right sides together, key clip marks and stitch sides with 5/8" seam, backstitching at both ends. Trim ends. Press seam open.

Turn down hem, matching seams. Pin and top-stitch close to edge of hem. On the inside, position handles on bag the same distance from each side (about 2"), with bottom of handle at hem. Pin or baste. Stitch at hemline and at top, lockstitching securely.

To box bag, with right sides together, measure up 1 1/2" from point (bottom of bag); fold seam to seam; press a crease. Stitch in this crease line on inside of bag. Do same to other side.

Cut a piece of cardboard the size of boxing for bottom of bag. Cardboard may be covered with left-over fabric, plastic, or contact paper.

If pocket is desired, position in place on outside of bag, and baste. Top-stitch, re-enforcing top of pocket by stitching over 1/4" and down to hem line.

The pockets are made by piecing together two swatches of fabric for a wide pocket; or by using a 4 or 5-inch piece of any desired length. Stay-stitch one edge at 3/4" (for the top). Set 2" hem. Clean finish. With right sides together, stitch hem with 1/2" seam. Layer, turn, and press. Set 1/2" crease around pocket.

Apply pocket as indicated above.

Former Coed, Bride

The wedding of Miss Kathryn Christensen, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Christensen, and Dennis Schipper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schipper of Lakewood, Colo., took place on Saturday afternoon, Nov. 27, at the Trinity Baptist Church in Wheatridge, Colo. The 4 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Robert A. Dugan, Jr.

Mrs. Craig Roberts of Lincoln was her sister's matron of honor and completing the threesome of attendants were bridesmaid Miss Pamela Hickey, and bridesmatron, Mrs. Steven Flodman, both of Lincoln.

Steven Schipper of Lakewood, Colo., served his brother as best man, and the groomsmen and ushers were Joseph Wise, Richard Bretton, both of Wheatridge; James and John Christensen, twin brothers of the bride, Lincoln, and Richard Ogden of Chapman.

Antique-toned satin, accented with English lace, fashioned the gown worn by the bride. Designed in the Empire mode, the bodice had a high collar of lace, the lace was repeated to form insets on the Bishop sleeves and to encircle the hem of the silhouette skirt which was completed with a lace-bordered cathedral train. Her tiered, shoulder-length veil was held in place with a Camelot cap of lace, and her colonial bouquet of roses and Stephanotis was centered with an orchid.

Mr. Schipper and his bride will reside in Lakewood, Colo.

In Suburbia

Christmas is a time for friendliness, neighborliness, and togetherness. One way to express these sentiments is to bring friends and neighbors, as well as relatives, into your home at this most festive time of the year.

The socializing has officially begun in suburbia and we have several parties and get-togethers to tell you about this morning.

New neighbors and Christmas cheer were the inspirations for a party held in Wedgewood Manor on Friday evening, Dec. 10. The host and hostess for the gala affair were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Marik — and many introductions were on the agenda for the evening. You see, several of the husbands in the suburban neighborhood rarely have the opportunity to see each other unless it is over the snow shovel or lawn mower — so the Mariks decided it was high time everyone along the block became acquainted with each other as well as with the newcomers, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd VanEgen.

The guest list for the adults-only party—Christmas celebration included Capt. and Mrs. Rome Guidice, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Schweitzer, Rev. and Mrs. Wesley Hustad, Mr. and Mrs. Don McKibben, Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt Gage, Mr. and Mrs. George Chenot, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rank, and Mrs. Viola Bilodeau.

The Pinochle Club to which Mr. and Mrs. Norman Adams of Country Club Terrace belong had a celebration of its own on Saturday evening, Dec. 11 — and the celebrating was to herald the Christmas social season and to honor the group's 15th anniversary.

The Saturday evening get-together began with the remaining eightsome — you see, two couples were lost to Colorado earlier this year — meeting at East Hills for dinner.

Then the group adjourned to the Adams' home where they joined in an exchange of gifts and spent the rest of the evening playing pinochle, of course.

The pinochle players included, in addition, to Mr. and Mrs. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Dorman, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Finningsmier, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kendle.

The holiday spirit was combined with an anniversary in yet another suburban neighborhood this past weekend.

A party was held on Sunday at the Trendwood home of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Collura who were the guests of honor at an open house in honor of their 25th wedding anniversary.

Joining the couple in celebrating their anniversary and the rapidly approaching holiday was a group of friends and relatives, including Mrs. Collura's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Kimball; and Mr. Collura's brothers and sisters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George Collura and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Collura, all of Chicago, Ill.; and, of course, the couple's children, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Collura of Omaha, Mr. and Mrs. James Collura, and Salvatore, Joe, and Mary Frances.

Houseguests are as much a part of Christmas as the decorated tree. Mr. and Mrs. William Whitford of Eastborough welcomed their holiday houseguest last weekend.

Arriving from his home in Reedpoint, Mont., for a stay through Christmas and the New Year was Mr. Whitford's uncle, Charles Whitford.

Monday Evening Ceremony

At 7:30 o'clock on Monday evening, Dec. 13, the marriage of Miss Shirley Janine Peterson, daughter of Roy E. Peterson, and the late Mrs. Peterson, to Donald Edward Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hill, was solemnized at the Bethany Christian Church. The Rev. Carl Burkhardt read the lines of the service.

Mrs. John Lefler was the matron of honor, and the bridesmaid was Miss Linda Kuebler. Mrs. Jack Condon of Greenwood was the bridesmatron.

Richard Steding served as best man, and groomsmen and ushers included Larry Peterson, Roger Pettigrew, Robert Boeshart, Bud Belford, Floyd Wegrzyn, and Richard Southwick of Omaha.

The bride chose a gown of peau de soie and lace for her wedding. The lace, dotted with pearls, fashioned the high collar, and cuffed the wide, lantern sleeves of the fitted bodice beneath which the long skirt, completed with a chapel train, was in the demi-bell mode. A Camelot cap of pearls held in place her shoulder-length veil of illusion, and she carried a cascade bouquet of deep red sweetheart roses and silvered gypsophelia.

Mr. Hill and his bride will reside at 2605 Griffith St. in Lincoln.

The bride is careering at Dorsey Laboratories. and Mr. Hill, who has completed a tour of duty with the U.S. Navy, and who attended the Commercial Extension School of Commerce in Omaha, is now associated with the Treasure City Stores.

Betrothal

Announcement is made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. Reynold Fuchtmann of Winnebago, of the engagement of their daughter, Rosanne, to James Weverka of Lincoln, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Weverka of Bruno.

The wedding will take place in April.

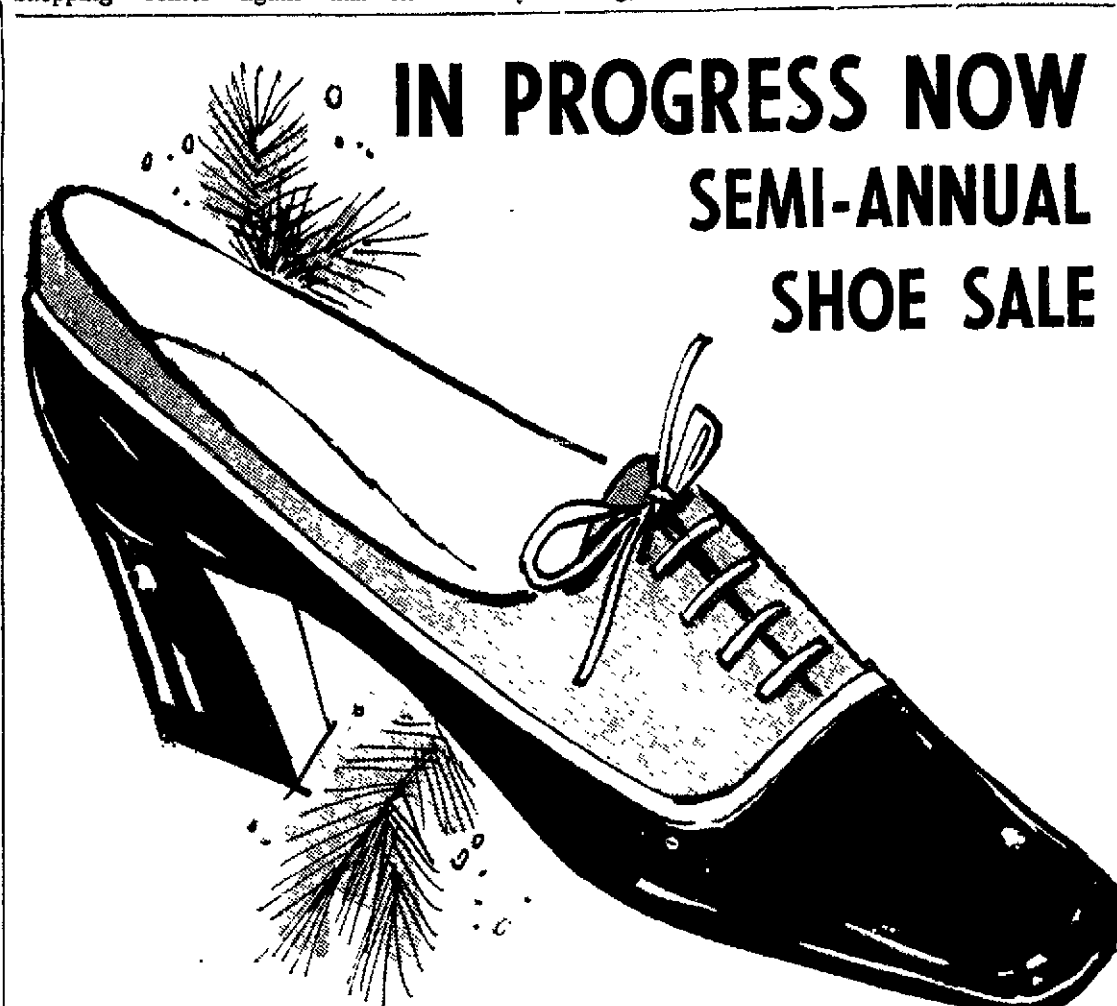

Miss Fuchtmann is a graduate of Mount Marty College at Yankton, S.D., and now is careering at the Lutheran Community Hospital in Norfolk.

Mr. Weverka is a graduate of the University of Nebraska and now is associated with the Lincoln-Lancaster County Health Department in Lincoln.

CFG Caroling Parties Planned

Camp Fire Girls will be week. The members of District 3, beginning at 7 o'clock, and the hour-long sessions will be continued by District 1 on Friday evening, Dec. 17.

Shopping Center again this on Thursday evening, Dec. 16,

ETV Pay Information Available

A Nebraska Educational Television Network spokesman said Monday he would be glad to furnish employee salary information to State Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff.

Jack McBride, manager of the network and executive secretary of the ETV commission, said however, as yet a request for the information hasn't been received.

"If Sen. Carpenter is requesting any information about ETV, it will be forwarded to him," McBride said.

Carpenter, in a statement Sunday, claimed some "High echelon" employees were being paid more than they should receive.

The Scottsbluff lawmaker had also called for a complete separation between the network and the University of Nebraska. He said the university has a tendency to "dictate" the policies utilized by the network.

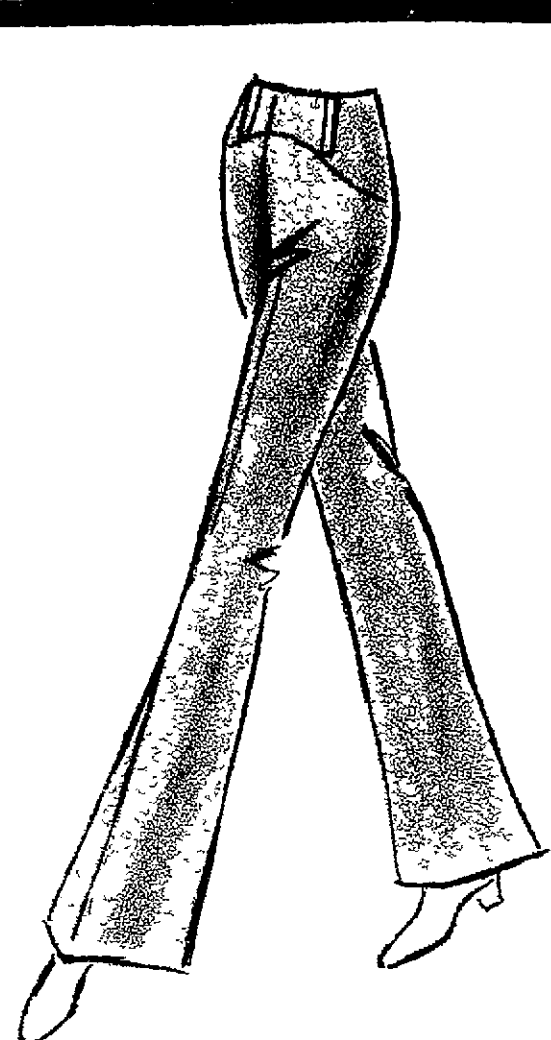

The proposal, McBride said, is not a new concept. He said it has been "the opinion of Sen. Carpenter for years" he thought should be separated.

However, McBride said, there is nothing to the charge that the university is controlling the network.

"The ETV commission has and is exercising public programming decision powers," he said.

Group Soliciting Funds To Combat Pornography

About 25,000 letters soliciting tax deductible contributions for an anti-pornography campaign have been sent to Nebraska by the Citizens for Decent Literature (CDL).

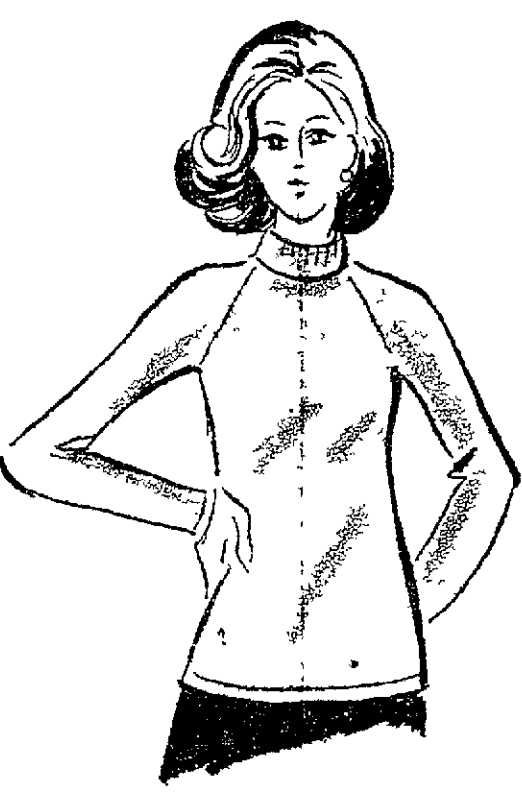

The mailing is being sent all over the country by the nationwide group and the letters to Nebraska residents include post cards to be sent to Gov. J. Elton and Atty. Gen. Clarence A. H. Meyer asking a crackdown on peddlers of obscene movies and books.

Thus far some 2,000 cards have been returned to Elton's office and 1,000 cards have been sent to Meyer.

Exon two months ago sponsored a seminar on obscenity law enforcement for law enforcement officials and the CDL participated in the seminar.

CDL Executive Director Raymond Garer said he is well satisfied with the response to the Nebraska mailing.

Exon has announced he donated $1,000 from his leftover campaign funds to help pay expenses of the CDL staff while they were in Lincoln.

Sudan Releases Ten Leaders Of Brotherhood

Khartoum Sudan (AP) — The government released on Monday 10 leaders of the Muslim Brotherhood who have been detained since President Jaafar el Numeiri took power in May 1969 and dissolved all political parties.

The only politicians now still detained are pro-Communists arrested after the abortive Communist coup last July. They number just under 2,000, the Interior Ministry said.

fan mail for "Old Lovers"

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a clergyman, and the letter from "Old Lovers" fascinated me. It concerns a widow of 63 and a widower of 66 who have known each other for many years, love each other, and want to marry.

The problem: The gentleman's only income is a small Social Security check. Hers is Social Security and a VA pension from her deceased husband which she will lose if she remarries. Living on the gentleman's income is practically impossible, so they have been living together. Now their families have disowned them, their neighbors won't speak to them and they are social outcasts.

The purpose of religion and the state are not always parallel. A couple can be morally right, though legally wrong.

I would recommend that this couple consult a lawyer about being married by a clergyman without the marriage being "legal," so the couple could retain their pensions. They could then declare their marriage to the world without sacrificing their income.

As a clergyman, I would be happy to perform such a nonlegal marriage ceremony. I have two somewhat similar (but somewhat different) situations.

One was a woman who could not marry the father of her yet unborn child because the man's divorce would not be final until after the baby was due. A lawyer recommended that they get a marriage license and that I marry them, even though the legality of the marriage could be challenged. But the child would have the father's name, and after the baby was born, and the father was legally free to marry, they could take out a legal license and have a second wedding. It was the charitable thing to do.

The other was a man and wife who had lived together for 12 years and had 10 children without marriage. Here the state permitted me to marry them without their getting a marriage license which the children might see in the newspapers. This was the inspiration of their social workers, and I was proud that the first wedding in our new church could be this ceremony (without a license) for these poor, but radiant people.

So I would congratulate "Old Lovers" and tell them to be creative, and try to find a way to tell the world of their marriage.

Sincerely,
PIERCE JOHNSON,
Unity Methodist Church
Los Osos, Calif.

DEAR ABBY: A quote by the late Sen. Winston Prouty, ranking minority member, Special Committee on Aging, is, I think, the perfect answer for "Old Lovers," who are living together without marriage for financial reasons:

"Older Americans have earned the right to choose how they shall live. But many are denied this right by social attitudes and policies which reject them."

Respectfully submitted by,
MRS. J. R. LINDERS:
Bay Village, Ohio

I think many readers are confused about whether or not they should use a foundation, and if so what shade it should be. Also, they are not sure whether the powder should be lighter or darker than the foundation. That famous makeup artist Eddie Senz once said to me, "Makeup was invented to take over where nature left off."

That tells you everything about foundation. If you have a flawless, lovely complexion you do not need anything but a touch of powder, some lip color, a bit of eyebrow emphasis and eye makeup. On the other hand, a foundation can give a glow to the sallow or pale skin and tone down one that is too pink and florid.

It can also mask any unattractive pigmentation or blend any differences in pigmentation. It provides a smooth surface for followup makeup. Then too, your makeup will last longer when applied over a foundation. As you can see a foundation does have many advantages.

Your powder should be a shade lighter than your foundation. Never rub powder into your face. Dust it on and let it set a minute. Then brush away any excess, using a soft brush or a very fluffy puff. You really ought to have two shades of powder, one for daytime and one for evening. Artificial lights fade out the pink or red in makeup. Therefore more color is needed at night.

Rouge can do two things for you—add color and change the shape of your face, not really, but the way it looks. There are a few things you should remember when applying color to your face. A little bit goes a long way. Be sure that the rouge is well blended so that there are no sharp or round demarcations. Do not apply rouge to wrinkles. Do not take rouge all the way to the hairline—blend out. Cream rouge is best for the dry skin. This should be used after the foundation and before the powder.

And now to the feet—

There are busy days ahead! Besides their myriad other responsibilities women are stockpiling festive decorations and foods in preparation for the arrival of children from school and various relatives or friends. In most homes women also do the Christmas shopping for the family. If she is to enjoy the holidays a woman must be considerate of those two faithful friends, her feet!

It has been estimated that in everyday life the average woman in the home walks almost nine miles a day. The United States Public Health Service has also estimated that about 80 per cent of all adults suffer from some form of foot trouble during their lives. Add to that the extra walking women do while Christmas shopping, and you realize how important care of the feet is, especially at this season. Aching feet can spoil your pleasure before and during the holidays.

Women have five times as much foot trouble as men. This is no doubt partly due to the shoes they wear. However foot specialists (podiatrists) say that high heels, sling pumps and other abusive foot wear will not cause permanent damage if worn no longer than four or five hours at a time a few days a week. It is the habitual use of such shoes that causes the havoc. Whenever you are going to do a lot of walking, wear shoes that support. Heels one-and-a-half inches high are said to be best.

Remember this when you go shopping. Uncomfortable feet can make gift hunting a nightmare and may also cause you to select the wrong present. After a day in the shops treat your feet to alternate hot and cold baths. Also massage them with a body lotion. You will find this very restful. Whenever you have a chance elevate your feet, even when sitting.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
2♥	Pass	2NT	Pass
3♥	Pass	5♥	Pass
6♥	Dble

It was absolutely impossible to rationalize the many extraordinary bids and plays Sylvia perpetrated at the club.

Of course, all bridge players—when they first start to play—pass through a phase when they make innumerable errors of judgement, and Sylvia was certainly no exception. But what constantly amazed the members of the club was not so much that she made errors, but their highly astounding nature.

Sylvia's approach to bridge was far different from that of any player we had ever seen.

No one could fathom the strange workings of her mind. No matter how hard she tried to grasp the principles that her harried partners attempted to impress upon her, she would nevertheless soon after take off on some utterly wild tangent of thought that would lead her to bids and plays the likes of which it was literally impossible to imagine.

But some of Sylvia's flights of fancy proved sensationally successful and it was these unexpected triumphs that inevitably became the talk of the club. Except for this one saving virtue, Sylvia's future as a player would have been dark indeed.

Take this hand which occurred soon after she joined the club. As usual she was playing in the expert game, and, when South bid six hearts, Sylvia (West) doubled. This was undoubtedly an optimistic double—since a trump trick was all she could reasonably expect to take—but Sylvia doubled nevertheless.

Furthermore, her opening lead was the queen of hearts.

You may marvel at this lead, but if you stop to analyze the hand thoroughly you are sure to discover that this was the only card Sylvia could play to defeat the contract. With any other lead South would have lost only one trick. As it was, South had to go down one.

Two Freed By Chinese In Good Health

Men Sentenced For Trying To Sell 2 Small Children

By The Associated Press
Two Americans freed by Communist China returned to the United States Monday and were reported to be tired but in good health.

"They appear alert and responsive," a military spokesman said after boarding the U.S. Air Force C141 which brought Richard Fecteau, 43, and Mary Ann Harbert, 25, from Hong Kong. They crossed the Chinese border into Hong Kong earlier in the day.

Fecteau, a civilian Army employee from Lynn, Mass., had been held by Communist China on allegations of espionage since his capture during the Korean War. Miss Harbert, whose parents live in Palo Alto, Calif., was captured while sailing on a yacht in 1968.

President Nixon welcomed "the act of clemency" by China and expressed pleasure the pair would be able to spend Christmas with their families.

Peking also announced that the life sentence of John T. Downey, 41, of New Britain, Conn., had been commuted to five years from the time of commutation, believed recently.

Fecteau and Downey were together on a plane which was shot down, leading to their 1952 capture.

Friend Suicide

The Chinese said Miss Harbert's companion when she was arrested while sailing in Chinese territorial waters north of Hong Kong April 21, 1968, Gerald Ross McLaughlin, committed suicide March 7, 1969.

The plane carrying Fecteau and Miss Harbert from Hong Kong touched down at Hickam Air Force Base in Honolulu after making a stop at Clark AFB in the Philippines.

A military medical evacuation team was accompanying the released Americans and an Air Force physician examined them during the Honolulu stop.

"They appear to be tired, but they're in good health," the spokesman said. He said Fecteau was wearing striped slacks, a white tee shirt and a pale green jacket. He said Miss Harbert was wearing slacks and a white sweater set.

Newsmen were kept about 1,000 feet from the plane as it was refueled and were not permitted to talk with the returning pair.

During the stop Miss Harbert and Fecteau left the plane briefly, and Miss Harbert called her family.

'Pure Delight'

"Her parents were just the picture of pure delight on the phone," said Mrs. Jackie Minta, a family friend.

"She said they were making a through flight to Pennsylvania," Mrs. Minta said.

"It was a very very poor connection but they did hear her voice. She sounded fine and from all reports she's thin but in good spirits. But then, she always was thin," Mrs. Minta said.

And in Lynn, Fecteau's divorced wife and twin daughters told a news conference they were delighted by his release. One daughter, Suzon, said the meeting with her father was "just going to be fun and games. We want to get away to some quiet place and get to know him."

Until the New China New Agency announced that Miss Harbert was being released, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Harbert, had given their daughter up for dead.

Harbert, a civil engineer, said his daughter left San Francisco for Hong Kong, to meet McLaughlin, a family friend. McLaughlin had bought a yacht in the British crown colony, and Miss Harbert planned to help him sail the craft home, Harbert said.

"We didn't miss them for 10 days or so because they were supposed to report at Manila," Harbert added. When they didn't report, the father said, the Coast Guard was notified, and an extensive search turned up nothing.

Harbert said he and his wife had given up hope that their daughter was alive. "After three years what else could we think?" he asked.

"We're walking on air," said Miss Harbert's sister, Sue Carrington of nearby Mountain View, Calif. "I was driving along the freeway on the way to work when I heard it on the radio. I couldn't believe it. Wow, are we going to have a great Christmas."

20% Divorce

Pretoria (AP) — One of every five marriages between South African whites in the 1960s ended in divorce, the Department of Statistics reported.

Jacksonville, Fla. (AP) — A former Boy Scout leader was sentenced to prison Monday after he pleaded guilty to offering to sell a pair of small children for $7,000 and a used car.

William Patrick O'Hara of Oklahoma City entered his plea and heard a sentence of one year and three months pronounced by Criminal Court Judge Everett Richardson.

Authorities continued to keep 3-year-old Theresa Cox and 2-year-old Robert "Butch" Cox in the city's emergency care and protection center for juveniles.

Confiscated Illegal Drug Amount Skyrockets In 4 Years In Nebraska

The amount of illegal drugs confiscated in Nebraska and the number of drug arrests has skyrocketed in the past four years, the Legislature's Budget Committee was told Monday.

State Patrol drug program head Lt. Wayne Rowe presented the figures to the committee in support of his request for two dozen more personnel to help fight drug abuse.

The committee took no action

1972 Legislature Will Get Resolution On Water Plan

The Legislative Council's Interim Study Committee on the proposed state water plan Monday reaffirmed committee action taken last month which would present the 1972 Legislature with a number of water plan resolutions.

Meeting in executive session, the committee reviewed the resolutions and Chairman Sen. Raurice Kremer of Aurora said the resolutions will be introduced when the Legislature convenes next month.

One of the resolutions adopted earlier would ask the State Soil and Water Conservation Commission to draw up a list of priorities by March 1 from the massive water plan.

The resolution asks the commission to "prepare a system of priority assignment which will clearly indicate relative priorities among several types of projects and project priorities within each project type."

Another resolution, reaffirmed Monday, asks the commission to analyze "the total amount and overall distribution of state funds required" to implement the water plan and investigate possible revenue sources.

BAYH BACKERS SHIFT SUPPORT TO SEN. MUSKIE

The statewide committee which had been formed to support the presidential candidacy of Sen. Birch Bayh has decided to endorse Sen. Edmund Muskie, according to Loren Belker of Lincoln.

Belker was chairman of the Bayh committee.

At a meeting last week, all committee members but one decided to support Muskie for the Democratic presidential nomination, Belker said.

The lone dissenter is expected to endorse Sen. Hubert Humphrey.

Bayh withdrew from the presidential race earlier this year after his wife became ill with cancer. The Nebraska Bayh committee thereupon decided to remain uncommitted as a group until a later date.

Humphrey, Muskie and Sen. Henry Jackson all actively sought the committee's support, Belker said.

"The committee felt that Muskie could best focus on the issues and his candidacy could best unite the Democratic Party," he said.

Belker said he informed Muskie of the decision by telephone, and "he was delighted." Muskie said he would send key staff members to Nebraska within the next week or 10 days to discuss with the former Bayh supporters their role in the campaign, Belker said.

'Learn Way Out' Plan Proposed

By United Press International

State Sen. John DeCamp of Neligh Monday announced a plan he said would literally allow state prison inmates to "learn" their way out of the penitentiary.

"I want 100 prisoners selected who have learning potential for college put into a program whereby they literally learn their way out of the penitentiary," DeCamp, a candidate for the Democratic Party U.S. Senatorial nomination said.

He explained that once enrolled, the inmates would work for a college degree. He said the same day they received their degree, they would receive a full pardon.

DeCamp said the concept has received the support of the chief justice of the U.S. Supreme Court, and for Nebraska to put it into effect would give the state a lead in penal reform.

Implement Now

"Nebraska can implement it now and pioneer the way," the lawmaker said.

The program would also yield substantial economic gains, DeCamp said. At present, he said, "we spend millions" each year to support families of prisoners on welfare and there are no "effective rehabilitation programs."

"Financially, our present set-up is a big loser," he said.

DeCamp also suggested that the plan would use ex-convicts as probation and parole officers.

'Best Parole Officers'

"A startling thing has been discovered," he said, "which is that the best parole and probation officers in the world are ex-convicts who have made a success of themselves."

A third proposal DeCamp offered would make an ex-convict "who has made a true success of himself and who has tremendous capability" a deputy warden at the State Prison.

Such a person, he said, would "understand inmate problems far better than any of us could ever hope to."

Resumption Of Peace Talks For Mideast Urged By U.N.

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — The General Assembly called Monday for resumption of Middle East peace talks through U.N. mediator Gennadi Jarring and for an Israeli commitment to withdraw from occupied Egyptian territory.

Ignoring a warning by Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban that it was creating a war atmosphere, the assembly approved the measure 79 to 7 with 36 abstentions.

Eban's main objection was to the call for a withdrawal commitment, which he argued should be agreed upon in negotiations.

He said approval of either of two other proposals before the assembly — calling for renewal of the Jarring effort without mentioning withdrawal — would have permitted the talks to start "tomorrow morning."

Egypt took part in the formulation of the approved resolution, which was put forward by a large number of African states, plus Afghanistan, Cyprus, Indonesia, Malaysia, Spain and Yugoslavia.

The decision came just hours after Premier Golda Meir returned to Tel Aviv from the United States and warned Israelis to be ready for war.

Israeli military analysts predicted that Egypt was "more than likely" to initiate some form of fighting around the year's end.

Eban refused to comment after the vote. "It's not all that important," he said.

Egypt's foreign minister, Mahmoud Riad, said if Israel refused to respect the U.N. resolution, "then Israel will be isolating itself from the world."

Police Seeking Link In Robberies

Omaha, Neb. (AP) — Omaha Police sought Monday to link robberies in two fashionable west Omaha homes to a similar early morning holdup a month ago and three in Des Moines Nov. 25.

Two gunmen wearing stocking masks and green jump suits broke into the John Cleary home early Monday, rounded up the family and held them at gunpoint while they collected cash and jewelry.

One of the bandits relented, however and gave 21-year-old Candy Cleary back her engagement ring after she tearfully told him "I got it only a month ago."

Police said the bandits then went to the home of Mrs. John Redick a short distance away, about 15 minutes later, awakened Mrs. Redick and the house's other two occupants, two bootstrappers at the University of Nebraska at Omaha — Joe F. Young, 37, and Earl W. Stanley, 34. They got about $150 in cash and some jewelry and fled in a pickup truck belonging to Stanley. (Bootstrappers are military men taking college work on temporary duty assignments).

The truck was recovered later

Corn Harvest Hampered By Muddy Fields

Muddy fields have kept Nebraska farmers from completing the corn harvest, government crop observers reported Monday.

Corn harvesting remains 97% completed, statewide, according to the weekly crop-weather review of the state-federal division of agricultural statistics in the Panhandle and southwest, about 85 to 90% of the corn has been harvested. In eastern areas the completion percentage ranges from 97 to 99%.

There is little change in the condition of winter wheat, the review said. Precipitation has kept top soils moist.

Plane Hits Pole During Landing Try

Scribner (AP) — The State Patrol reported Monday that three Omaha men whose plane crash landed near here were treated at a doctor's office and released.

The three were identified as the pilot, Marvin Dietrich of Omaha, and two passengers, George Orr and George Adams.

The patrol said their Piper Cherokee headed from West Point to Omaha tried to land because of icing conditions and hit a telegraph pole of the Chicago North Western Railway, then crashed on the railroad's track about one-half mile southeast of Scribner.

The plane, owned by Flight Training Inc. of Omaha, was demolished, the patrol said.

Telegraph communication of the railroad was put out of service by the mishap.

FRENCH WINE PICKETED

Demonstrators outside the state liquor store in Iowa City urged patrons to boycott French wine and all French products. The organizers said the demonstration protested the fact that much of the heroin arriving in the United States is processed near French seaports.

Commodity Credit Corp. Begins Purchasing Corn

Kansas City (AP) — The Agriculture Department's Commodity Credit Corp. announced Monday it was purchasing 1,425,000 bushels of corn from eight sites in four Midwest states.

Prices, reflecting differences in location and shipping costs, range from $1.12 to $1.30 per bushel.

The action is a result of an announcement by Agriculture Secretary Earl R. Butz that the government would make the purchases to help strengthen market prices.

A breakdown of the purchases:

From a storage in Sioux City, Iowa — 200,000 bushels at $1.16 per bushel flat; Council Bluffs, Iowa — 150,000 bushels, $1.22 flat; Herndon, Iowa — 50,000 bushels $1.15 flat; Waterloo, Iowa — 100,000 bushels, $1.12 flat; Gilman, Ill. — 100,000 bushels, $1.19 flat; Atchison, Kan — 400,000 bushels, $1.29 1/2 transit; Nebraska City, Neb. — 75,000 bushels, $1.21 flat; Lincoln, Neb. — 350,000 bushels, $1.31 transit.

Boy Tells Santa He Set Barn Fire

Burdett, New York (AP)—The letter to Santa Claus said: "I am sorry that I was bad I set the fire in the barn and ran into the house. It was a mistake."

Police said a 7-year-old boy made the admission in a note to Santa. The child's grandmother found it and showed it to police Monday.

Thus, officers said, they were able to uncover the cause of a minor fire last Friday at a barn near the boy's home.

Police didn't identify the youngster. They said he would be referred for psychiatric examination.

Divers Recover Stolen Property

Kearney (AP)—Divers from the Kearney Volunteer Fire Department, working in cooperation with the Buffalo and Kearney County sheriffs' offices, have recovered an estimated $200 in merchandise taken in a $40,000 to $50,000 burglary Nov. 25 at a Perkins County residence.

The merchandise was recovered Sunday from the Kearney County sandpit, south of the Platte River near here.

Buffalo County Chief Deputy Sheriff Jerry Crawford said the merchandise recovered included a projector, electric heater, electric typewriter and a shotgun.

A large quantity of the merchandise taken from the home of Mrs. B. J. Watkins of Venango is still missing, officials said.

Gary Reed, Kearney County deputy sheriff, said his office, in cooperation with the Perkins County sheriff's office and the State Patrol's criminal division, arrested a rural Minden couple in connection with the burglary Dec. 2.

Reed said Rodney Whitmore, 35, and his wife, Roberta, 24, have been jailed on burglary charges in Perkins County in lieu of $15,000 bond each.

Reed said the couple were formerly employed by Mrs. Watkins.

He said the total value of merchandise, securities and cash taken in the burglary was $40,000 to $50,000.

He said some $5,000 in cash and merchandise was recovered at the Whitmore's Minden home, where they had moved from Venango.

He said a large portion of the goods are believed to have been burned by the suspects at Cottonwill Lake State Recreation Area northwest of Kearney.

Omaha Doctor, Philip Olson, Victim Of Apparent Suicide

Omaha (UPI) — Dr. Philip Brian Olson, 31, of Omaha, was found dead Sunday afternoon in the front seat of his small foreign sports car northwest of Omaha.

A pill container and a note written on a piece of wood were found with him, the Douglas County Sheriff's Office said.

Olson, a University of Nebraska College of Medicine graduate, was found late in the afternoon by two men inspecting the undeveloped Green Meadows area.

The note Olson wrote said he felt he was "a failure" and that he had "nothing to live for." Sgt. Ted Noveski of the sheriff's office said.

A relative told sheriff's deputies that Olson had been despondent because of the illness of his son, Noveski said.

Police said Olson's wife, Donna, filed a missing person report with police at 9 a.m. Sunday, indicating Olson had left home at 12:30 p.m. Thursday.

Decrease Is Seen In Postage Sales

The increase in postal rates seems to be having an effect not only in Lincoln, but across the nation, that is showing up as a sharp drop in postage sales, Bob Wittstruck, customer service representative for the Postal Service in Lincoln said Monday.

Along with the decrease in postage sales, there has been an 8.2% decline compared to last year in the number of letters processed through the automatic cancellation machine from Nov. 28 to Dec. 12, Wittstruck said.

He said "possibly part of it (the decrease) is from the increase in postage."

Many people are cutting down on their mailing lists, he said, and commented that he himself had also cut down. During the Nov. 28 to Dec. 12 period, Wittstruck said, there was $280,904 in stamp sales, down 10% from last year.

He said meter postage sales were down 30% for outgoing parcel post and that outgoing parcel post, excluding the meter sales, was down 1.1%.

Incoming parcel post is showing an even sharper decline of 32%, Wittstruck said.

He said the 30% decline in outgoing parcel post from Lincoln compared with the 32% decline in incoming parcel post indicated that other parts of the country are even harder hit than Lincoln.

Oklahoma's Hall Bringing Peanuts

Oklahoma City (AP) — Gov. David Hall is flying to Nebraska Tuesday to meet with Gov. J. James Exon to discuss farm and other economic problems, and, incidentally, to deliver 100 pounds of peanuts he lost on the Oklahoma-Nebraska football game.

Hall wagered 100 pounds of Oklahoma peanuts and Exon put up 100 pounds of Nebraska beef on the Thanksgiving Day clash between the two football powers.

Nebraska won the game, 35-31, but Oklahoma's Hall probably is the only governor in the country who could persuade another governor to wager beef against peanuts.

Exon reportedly plans to paint the peanuts red and sell them as souvenirs for $1 each. The proceeds will go to arthritis research.

Foes Exterminated Parakeets In U.S.

Atlanta — The Carolina and Louisiana parakeets once lived in great numbers from Florida to the Great Lakes, but these beautifully plumed birds were exterminated by hunters, by milliners for their plumage, and by farmers because the parakeets ate orchard fruit.

AFT Seeks Retroactive Wage Hikes

The American Federation of Teachers (AFT) chapter at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln has filed a request for retroactive wage increases with the Internal Revenue Service office in Omaha, the chapter's president said Monday.

"We don't intend to wait for the (university) administration to act on this point," said Prof. George Rejda of the UNL economics department.

Rejda said the request for retroactive pay, to cover the wage freeze period from Aug. 15 to Nov. 14, was filed on the basis of a Pay Board ruling that retroactive pay may be granted if a business raised prices before Aug. 15 in anticipation of higher salaries.

Rejda noted the University of Nebraska regents had raised tuition rates prior to Aug. 15 for summer school sessions.

"We feel the chances are pretty good" for a positive IRS ruling, Rejda said.

Housing Authority Asks Dismissal Of Racial Discrimination Complaint

The Lincoln Housing Authority Monday asked the U.S. District Court to dismiss the complaint of Robin Burbach and denied her allegations of racial discrimination.

In a suit filed last month, the Lincoln woman charged the Authority would not let her live in Northwood Terrace apartments at 2259 Y because she has a racially mixed child and dates black men.

In its answer and motion for dismissal, the Authority said the plaintiff has not qualified for authority housing as a low income person at any time since July 1.

It said she was offered a unit in Northwood in February, 1970, but she declined, and that she was later offered other quarters.

In August, 1971, the plaintiff requested housing at Northwood, but the Authority's five-member board decided after a September hearing it would be in the best interests of the parties that housing not be provided at Northwood but instructed its executive director, Herbert Hamilton, to find other suitable housing for her near the University of Nebraska campus.

The Authority said no other suitable housing has become available since then to anyone having a lower priority number than the plaintiff's.

The Authority's answer said no racial discrimination was involved in the decision.

It also said the plaintiff has failed to invoke all administrative remedies available to her.

E. Flowerday, Hastings, Dies

Hastings (AP) — Edwin J. Flowerday, 63, who retired Dec. 1 as area manager of the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Co. of Hastings, died in a hospital Monday.

He had been in declining health for some time.

A telephone company employee for 43 years, he came to Hastings from Pawnee City as wire chief in 1948 and the following year he was named area manager.

He had a long list of civic activities including the Hastings Civil Service Commission, the Hastings Planning and Zoning Commission, Community Chest, Red Cross, Kiwanis Club, Boy Scouts and civic symphony. He belonged to Masonic orders including the Consistory and the Shrine and was a member of the Elks Lodge. He had been an elder and trustee in the First Presbyterian Church of Hastings.

Two Nebraska Companies Get SBA Loans

Washington (UPI) — Two Nebraska companies were among 48 local development firms which received loan approvals totaling $6.4 million in October, the Small Business Administration (SBA) said.

The loans provided $11.6 million for the small firms which will provide employment for 2,410 persons, the SBA said.

The Nebraska companies helped were McCook Progress Inc., and Blue Hill Futura Corp.

McCook Progress received an $85,000 loan on a $100,000 project providing work for 50 employees.

Blue Hill Futura received $117,000 for a $130,000 project which will give employment to two persons.

POW Release Letter Drive Begun With Kids

Omaha (AP) — The Omaha Forgotten Americans Committee has begun a drive to get letters from school children written at Christmas time, seeking the release of American Prisoners of War.

The children address their letters to Madam Ton Duc Thang, wife of the North Vietnamese president.

"Perhaps the President's wife will have some compassion for the men and their families and might exert some influence," said committee head Bill Ramsey of Omaha.

"It's worth a try in a struggle that has seen little progress over the years."

The first group of letters was collected from third graders at Holy Cross School. Ramsey said he hoped teachers throughout the city would encourage the children to write those letters.

A companion campaign is being conducted by the wives of the nation's lieutenant governors. In Nebraska, Mrs. Frank Marsh is collecting letters from women to the wives of various North Vietnamese leaders.

Hospital Council To Act On Report

The Lincoln Hospital and Health Council will meet Dec. 21 to consider the final report of its mental health planning committee.

The report was handed to council members at the November meeting, and action is expected at the upcoming gathering, set for noon in the Lincoln Center Building.

Grant Will Aid Manpower Program

Lincoln's Manpower Development Training Center, 620 No. 48th, has been granted $582,946 for operation through September, 1972.

The grant from the departments of Health, Education and Welfare and Labor will provide for the training of 300 persons who are unemployed and unskilled.

About half of the money will be used to pay for building rental, supplies and teachers. The rest is paid to the students as a training allowance.

Trainees are referred to the facility from all parts of the state by the Nebraska Division of Employment.

Director of the Lincoln center Dr. Darrell Grell said that although the program has only recently been publicized, more than 200 trainees are enrolled in the program.

He said that figure is already higher than in any of the last seven years. The center began operation eight years ago.

Grell said the school is a part of the Lincoln Technical College. It offers courses in cooking, clerical work, sales work, custodial service, service station and auto mechanic work, horticulture and the handling of LP gas.

A difference between the Manpower center and the rest of the Lincoln Technical College is that students at the center are paid by the U.S. Department of Labor while attending. Also, all entering trainees are unskilled and unemployed.

Coed Claims She Was Denied Job At Hotel On The Basis Of Her Sex

At a public hearing of the Equal Opportunity Commission Monday, a University of Nebraska coed alleged that the Lincoln Hotel, when considering her for a job, discriminated against her on the basis of sex.

On Aug. 18 of this year Celeste Wiselblood said the hotel manager, James Rodney told her that he wanted a man to fill the night clerk position for which she applied.

"He did not ask for references or check my work history, and I was denied the opportunity of filling out an application form."

"I felt I was discriminated against in hiring because of my sex," Miss Wiselblood, a member of the women's rights subcommittee of the UNL Faculty Senate's Human Rights Commission, said.

In her complaint, she seeks the wages which she would have earned from the time she applied until the time she finally found a job (about three weeks).

Also included complaint is a request for a reminder to employers that jobs cannot be listed under help wanted: male-female in newspapers (unless sex is a bona fide occupational qualification).

A private hearing was held Oct. 14; however, a reconciliation could not be reached.

The examiner, Mrs. Taylor Mattes, will recommend a decision to the next meeting of the quasi-judicial Equal Opportunity Commission which will then hand down a ruling.

If the business does not comply within 30 days, it can be taken to district court.

... SEASON OPENS MARCH 3 AT FONNER; LINCOLN DATES JULY 18-AUG. 23

Tide Has Superstitions, Too

Nebraska's football team has its superstitious pennies with the Husker coaches and sports information director Don Bryant feeling much more secure about an upcoming game if one of them finds a penny that week.

Alabama, the Huskers' Orange Bowl foe, also has its superstitions. Star running back Johnny Musso, for instance, carries a buckeye in his pocket as a lucky charm.

"Someone gave it to me before we came back to practice last fall and I stuck it in my pocket, then forgot about it until after we beat Southern Cal," Musso explains.

"There it was, in my pocket. I've made sure it's been there since."

Alabama fullback Ellis Beck has a thing with numbers, always sitting in seat No. 11 in the Tide's film-viewing room and always carrying exactly 11 cents change in his pocket.

Tide defensive tackle Jeff Beard has a white belt that he considers a magic charm, but when he packed for the trip to Birmingham ahead of the Auburn game, he forgot it.

His wife, Sara, discovered the white belt after Jeff had left and several calls to friends she thought might be driving down to the game found them all gone home for the Thanksgiving holidays.

She then called the Alabama State Police headquarters, explained the dilemma, and just happened to find a patrolman ready to go to the Jefferson County Line where a Jefferson County patrolman met the car from Tuscaloosa.

The belt was delivered to Jeff and Alabama, as you know, trounced Auburn.

NU Tops At Avoiding Interceptions

Nebraska with Jerry Tagge doing most of the throwing was the best team in the nation this season at avoiding pass interceptions.

The Huskers had only 2.1 per cent of their passes caught by the wrong people, six of 280. Next closest, but are back at 3.2 per cent, was Mississippi with seven out of 219.

On the other hand, Nebraska ranked third in pass interception return yardage with 379, trailing only Tennessee's 782 and Brigham Young's 514.

The Alabama offense that Nebraska's Black Shirts must try to stop in the Orange Bowl apparently is smarter than the Tide defense the Huskers will try to move against.

None of the Crimson Tide defensive platoon made the Southeastern Conference all-scholastic team, but from the Alabama offense running back Johnny Musso, center Jim Krapf and guard Jimmy Rosser made it.

While Nebraska head football coach Bob Devaney was in Hawaii preparing his Huskers for their game there, Alabama coach Bear Bryant was filming a quail hunting expedite with Curt Gowdy near Selma, Ala., for the TV show American Sportsman.

Big 8 Tops In Other Sports

Most every sports fan in the Big Eight knows that Nebraska and Oklahoma rank No. 1 and No. 3, respectively, in football nationally but the Big Eight is not just a football power.

Big Eight teams achieved these other rankings during 1971 — Iowa State No. 1 in gymnastics . . . Oklahoma State No. 1 and Iowa State No. 2 in wrestling . . . Colorado No. 2 in skiing . . . Kansas No. 3 in basketball . . . Kansas No. 4 in outdoor track . . . Colorado and Kansas No. 4 in indoor track.

New Big Eight commissioner Chuck Neinas, who says one of the things he didn't like about his job with the NCAA was that he didn't get to see enough football games in person.

Chuck may make up for it in a short period around the upcoming holidays although his wife may not like missing the New Year's Eve partying.

Chuck plans to watch Iowa State in the Sun Bowl on Dec. 18, attend the night contest between Colorado and Houston in the Astro-Bluenet Bowl New Year's Eve, catch a late night flight to New Orleans for the 11 a.m. kickoff between Oklahoma and Auburn, then go by private plane to Miami for the New Year's Night affair between Nebraska and Alabama.

Easterday Boxers Stumble As Training Habits Diminish

By RANDY EICKHOFF

Whenever a boxer does something different wise old managers and coaches nod their heads and say: "Times and boxers change. The fighters are younger."

But despite the changing times and new faces in the ring, every fighter is forced to conform to one established axiom: "If you don't train, you won't win."

Oilier Assistant Fired

Houston (AP) — Coach Ed Hughes of the Houston Oilers fired offensive backfield assistant Walt Schlunkman Monday.

The longest racing season in Nebraska history—185 days—was outlined Monday by the State Racing Commission, opening on March 3 at Grand Island's Fonner Park and running through Nov. 4 at South Sioux City's Atokad Park.

The State Fairgrounds track in Lincoln was assigned an opening date of July 18 by the commission with a closing date of Aug. 23.

The Fairgrounds meeting is a 30-day affair with racing on the last three Mondays, Aug. 7, 14 and 21.

The Lincoln season will close at mid-week and commission chairman Harry Farnham of Omaha noted it was the feeling of the commission that Lincoln should have a full sixth week "when they get the proper facilities."

However, Farnham added, "Until that time, or at least for this year, we are assigning the remainder of the sixth week to Columbus."

More Monday racing was assigned by the commission than in previous years with Farnham explaining, "The commission feels that the six day racing will prove profitable for the tracks, generate approximately a quarter of a million dollars in additional pari-mutuel tax revenue to the State of Nebraska, and help alleviate the economic plight of the horsemen who have a seven-day week operation expense-wise, yet only race five days a week."

Farnham added, "It is the intention of the commission to closely evaluate the results of these experimental six-day racing weeks to determine if they prove beneficial to each segment of Thoroughbred racing in Nebraska."

The 1972 schedule:

Fonner Park — 40 days, March 3 through April 29. No racing Monday through Thursday for the first three weeks. No Monday racing in March, but racing Monday through Saturday during April.

Ak-Sar-Ben — 59 days, May 2 through July 15. No racing on May 9. Monday racing on May 8, 29, June 26, July 3, 10.

State Fairgrounds — 30 days, July 18 through Aug. 23. Monday racing Aug. 7, 14, 21.

Columbus — 24 days, Aug. 25 through Sept. 23. No racing on Aug. 28 or Sept. 5. Monday racing on Sept. 4, 11, 18.

Atokad—32 days, Sept. 26 through Nov. 4. Monday racing Oct. 9, 23.

REDSKINS WIN, 38-24 NJCC Leaders

... Ex-Husker Vactor Helps Beat Rams To Meet

By STEVE GILLISPIE
Star Sports Writer

The two leaders in the Nebraska Junior College Conference will meet Saturday night at Fairbury.

Nebraska Western will play the Bombers in a rematch of the NJCC pre-season basketball tournament title game. The Cougars prevailed, 80-77, in that game after Fairbury led by 10 points at halftime.

"We had two tough ball games before playing Western in the title game," said Bomber coach Gary Borgen.

"And it showed because we looked tired in the second half against Western," he continued. "We're looking forward to playing Western again but we expect they'll also play better ball."

The Scottsbluff team of second-year coach Bill Braunbeck is the only undefeated state college club.

And the Cougars have whipped perennial power Casper, Wyo. to remain unbeaten. Jim Chones, the all-American 6-10 center at Marquette, played for Casper one year.

Western will play at McCook Friday night before taking on Fairbury while the Bombers travel to Northeastern at Norfolk on Tuesday.

Borgen has been somewhat of a miracle worker for the Bombers. He signed to coach basketball at Fairbury two weeks before the season opened two years ago.

His team only won three games that season.

Last year the Bombers won five of their first six games, all before the semester break. Then Borgen lost four players — two to injuries, one transferred for a football scholarship and one had failing grades.

Fairbury only won four more games while losing 21 to finish the season.

But this year promises to be better and Borgen attributes this outlook to depth and balance. "With the exception of one game four of our starters have scored in double figures," he noted.

"If we don't have any more bad games like the Penn Valley one, we'll be right in there all the way."

Fairbury out rebounded Penn Valley, 58-22, and lost, 74-71 but committed 23 turnovers and had 16 bad passes. However in most games the Bombers have been shooting 46 percent from the field besides dominating the boards.

Borgen says this year's freshmen are the best group the school has had in some time and compliments the returning starters.

Evidence of this is Cornell Jones, who finished fourth in the nation this past season for junior college quarterbacks. Jones is joined by veterans Sterling Symonette, Mike Lanham and Steve Moslander forming the core of the team.

Arkansas Hits 'Pokes, 90-76

Fayetteville, Ark. (AP) — The University of Arkansas defeated Oklahoma State, 90-76, here Monday night in a see saw basketball game between the two teams.

Arkansas took an early lead in the game and led until 2:29 in the half when Randy Rasmussen, on a one-and-one situation, sank two freethrows to put the Cowboys ahead 41-49.

—BEARS (5-1) BRINGING BEST RECORD INTO HUSKER CLASSIC—

Baylor Coach Not Sure His Club Deserves Favorite Role

By MARK GORDON
Star Sports Writer

Bill Menefee has the best record, but he isn't convinced he has the favorite.

"I'm glad we're 5-1, but I really wouldn't say we're in the driver's seat," says the Baylor basketball coach. "You can't say that since we don't know a whole lot about the other teams."

The Bears meet LaSalle in the four-team Husker Classic in the second-annual affair's opening tilt at 7 p.m. Friday at the NU Coliseum. Coach Joe Cipriano's Nebraskans face Idaho in the night's second contest beginning at 9 p.m.

Despite losing last season's two leading scorers and three of the top four scorers, the Bears haven't led their inexperience with the Menefee system inhibit their success.

With one sophomore and three junior college imports comprising the top seven men, the Bears have cruised past Oklahoma City, LSU, Abilene Christian, Lamar State and Tulane. The Waco, Tex., squad lost its opener to powerful Western Kentucky, 94-84.

"We've played in stops and starts — we're prone to make mistakes," said the three-time Southwest Conference coach of the year, "But with all the players new to our system, I'm still particularly pleased with the way our team has played."

Senior 6-1 guard Tom Stanton, ranked second to graduated all-American William Chatmon with a 12.1 scoring average last season, sparks the Baylor attack. Winner of the Bear Hustle Award the past two seasons, Stanton has averaged almost 12 points per game this campaign.

Pat Fees, a reserve the past two seasons, is averaging almost 15 points from a starting center's position. The 6-8 senior paced the SWC with a .620 shooting mark last year.

Three junior college transfers — senior guard Roy Thomas, junior forward Chester Green and junior forward Adam West—have broken into the Bear lineup.

"Thomas (at 6-2) leads our fast break and rebounds well for someone his size," said Menefee. "West has been our leading scorer the past two games (with 19 and 13), but our scoring averages are well distributed."

"We don't have any outstanding players—they're all within the 12-13 range," he says.

Using SMU as a common denominator, Menefee terms Nebraska a consistently "good team." He estimates that SMU and Baylor are rather similar squads.

Nebraska toppled SMU, 84-76, last Saturday night in Lincoln, while the Mustangs meet Baylor in two conference tilts later this season.

In 10 previous seasons, Menefee teams have leaped to 5-1 starts in the 1964 and 1967 seasons. But the 1964 squad finished at 7-17 and the 1967 term at 14-10.

"Let's just hope we continue winning," he says.

Jack Lifts Oklahoma Over Bama

Norman, Okla. (AP) — The Oklahoma Sooners rode the shooting and rebounding of senior forward Bobby Jack to slip past Alabama, 79-73, in an intersectional basketball game here Monday night.

Jack scored 21 points and pulled down 11 rebounds as the Sooners racked up their third straight win to even up their record at 3-3.

Oklahoma trailed only once in the game — in the first seven seconds — when Alabama's Wendell Hudson sank a free throw to make it 1-0. Jack then hit a base-line jumper to put the Sooners ahead to stay.

OU had a 38-31 bulge in rebounding.

Understanding Called Key In Learning To Read

A British educator said here Monday that children must be taught basic concepts of words, letters and sounds related to experiences they understand if they are to learn to read with minimal difficulty.

But Dr. John A. Downing was critical of Sesame Street and other efforts which he said concentrate too heavily on "letter name knowledge."

"The best predictor of first grade reading achievement is the number of letter names a child knows by the end of kindergarten," Downing told an audience of teachers at Clare McPhee School.

"Has No Effect"

"But it doesn't follow that if you teach letter names, children will learn to read," he said. "It has no effect."

An "enormous amount" of money is spent in the national Sesame Street program "teaching letter names," Downing noted.

"It's a good program, but it's too bad they didn't spend the money on something more useful."

"Letter name knowledge," he said, "is a symptom of a child's concept understanding."

In effect, Downing said, if a child understands what letters are, he will know the letter names. But he may know letter names without understanding the letter concept.

Too Many Barriers

Downing contended there are often too many things in the way when a child should be ready to learn to read.

8 Children Die

Colombo, Ceylon (AP) — A barrel of asphalt being melted over an open fire on a roadway exploded and eight children were killed, the city coroner said.

The "cognitive confusion," as he called it, prohibits a child's understanding of those concepts essential to early reading efforts.

More abstract concepts, such as phonics, should be avoided until later years, he said.

He also suggested early teaching efforts in reading should be relevant to the child's "speaking interests."

If a child speaks Spanish at home, for example he should be taught in his native language the concepts of reading, he said.

He cited as an example of good teaching a visit to St. Teresa's School in Lincoln Monday, where Downing said children were "reading off each item" as they prepared Christmas cookies.

"The children didn't know they were learning to read," he said, but he said they were learning because they were working in the realm of experience relevant to them.

Downing, who now teaches in British Columbia, was in Lincoln to speak to teachers from the Lincoln schools, the University of Nebraska and Concordia College, Seward.

State Hunting Pressure Quiets

... DUCKS HEAD SOUTH FOR WINTER QUARTERS

Hunting pressure was light across Nebraska over the weekend with pheasant hunters experiencing fair success over most of the state and waterfowl gunners doing well in a few areas.

Duck hunting has fallen off considerably in a few northern locales, as the birds press on toward winter quarters farther south. Goose hunters still enjoy spotty success, as the close of the season approaches on Wednesday, December 15.

According to reports of Game and Parks Commission conservation officers in the field, outdoor activity across the state includes:

PANHANDLE

Duck hunters report good success on mallards in cornfields and by jump-shooting along creeks in Scotts Bluff and Sheridan counties. Approximately 10,000 mallards and 80,000 ducks are holding on the Garden County Refuge, and waterfowl hunting in that area and around Lake McCaughy has been fair. Pheasant hunting pressure throughout the Panhandle has been light, and success has been fair. Large parties with dogs have been doing well, with best results in stubble fields. Anglers at West Kimball Reservoir have been taking rainbow trout up to 14 inches on trout eggs fished through the ice near shore. Fishermen have avoided ice farther out in the lake, as it has not reached sufficient thickness to safely support their weight. Archer-vendor hunters have met with some success in the Pine Ridge region.

SAND HILLS

Good numbers of pheasants have been spotted in Sherman and Valley counties, but the birds often flush out of range. Sherman Reservoir is nearly frozen over, and most of the waterfowl have left. A few ducks are still on hand in Cherry, Brown, and Boyd counties.

NORTHEAST

Pheasant hunting pressure was light in Wheeler, Boone, and Greeley counties over the weekend, but hunters walking weedy draws and un-picked corn did well. Very few waterfowl hunters were afield in that area. Dakota, Dixon, and Thurston counties experienced light pressure, while gunners scored on pheasants, cottontails, and squirrels. Lewis and Clark Lake is frozen over, but some 20,000 mallards are on hand below the dam, and gunners are picking up a few over cornfields in Cedar County. The fallwaters below the dam are providing a bit of fishing action also, yielding occasional piddish up to 15 pounds.

SOUTHEAST

Hunters had good success on pheasants over the weekend in Fillmore, York, and Clay counties. The same area also yielded a good number of cottontails. Most of the ducks have left the Platte River in Butler and Saunders counties, but a good buildup has been reported on Branched Oak Lake near Malcolm.

SOUTHWEST

Pheasant hunting pressure has been light. Large numbers of ducks and fair concentrations of geese are reported at Enders and Swanson reservoirs. At Harlan County Reservoir, waterfowl shooting was slow, but a few geese were taken over the weekend from fields in the area.

2 Huskers Eye 100 Stops

Nebraska linebacker Bob Terrio and middle guard Rich Glover are with striking distance of the 100 mark in tackles as they begin preparations Wednesday for the Orange Bowl date with Alabama.

Terrio is the Husker leader with 96 while Glover is close on his heels with 92.

Cornell Puts Off Basketball Game

Rochester, N.Y. (UPI) — The scheduled basketball game Tuesday between Cornell University and the University of Rochester was postponed Monday "because of the troubles Cornell is having at the present time," a spokesman for the Rochester school said.

Six black players at Cornell have refused to play in Cornell's last three games because of certain grievances. A five-member panel is probing the situation and hopes to complete its investigation by Saturday.

NFL's Cardinals Suspend Lane

apologized in the Post-Dispatch's afternoon editions. "I put my foot in my mouth," he said.

Lane's frustrations evidently stemmed from the Cardinals' poor record and his decline from 977 yards rushing last season.

Held to 19 yards on eight carries against the Eagles, the four-year veteran has a total of 592 yards rushing on 150 carries.

"Everybody wants to know why I don't carry the ball anymore," Lane was quoted by the Globe-Democrat as saying, "It's a good question, I wish I knew the answer."

The newspaper also quoted Lane as saying, "I'm on my option year, I really don't know if I'll be here next year. Sometimes it makes you wonder if you wouldn't be a lot better off playing somewhere else."

The announcement of Lane's suspension for the game Saturday against the Dallas Cowboys in Dallas came from Bidwill and coach Bob Hollway.

UCLA Remains Atop Poll

... SOUTH CAROLINA ADVANCES, NORTH CAROLINA FALLS

By Associated Press
South Carolina went north and North Carolina moved south, but UCLA just stayed in its familiar location atop the college basketball poll Monday.
After winning the Cable Car Classic in San Francisco with a 67-59 beating of California Saturday night, undefeated South Carolina bolted from No. 11 to No. 3 this week.
The Gamecocks unseated North Carolina's Tar Heels, who dropped a place to fourth after losing their first game of the year, 89-73 to Princeton.

A nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters, however, still stuck with UCLA as the No. 1 team. The powerful Bruins, 117-53 victors over Texas A&M over the weekend for their fourth straight, collared 37 first-place votes for an overwhelming 898 points.
Marquette, also a winner of four games, remained second with six first-place votes and 708 points. The Warriors beat Memphis State 74-73 and Michigan 81-52 last week.

South Carolina uniquely made it to third without a first-place vote. The Gamecocks had 508 points and a big margin over North Carolina's 421. The Tar Heels, however, did get a vote for the No. 1 spot.
Penn, with 409 points, leaped five places to No. 5 after whipping Duke 50-49 in overtime and Manhattan 87-66. Brigham Young took a giant step to No. 6 from No. 15 after stopping New Mexico State 90-80 and Creighton 90-68.

—REPRESENTATIVE TEAMS UNDECIDED— NFL Divisional Playoffs Open Dec. 25 At Minnesota

New York (AP) — The National Football League's divisional playoffs will open at noon CST on Dec. 25, at Minnesota with the Vikings playing host to the champions of the American Conference's Eastern Division, either Dallas or Washington.
Pairings for the playoffs, scheduled Dec. 25 and Dec. 26, were announced Monday by Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the NFL.
Since three of the six divisional titles are still undecided, as are both of the extra qualifiers, the representative teams in most cases are still indeterminate.
Two games will be played each of the two days and will be televised nationally but balked out in the areas involved. American Conference games will be televised by NBC, the National Conference games by CBS.

Playoff winners will meet Jan. 2 to determine who will meet Jan. 2 to determine Conference championships, with the survivors meeting in the Super Bowl at New Orleans Jan. 16.
Starting times of the double-header on each day will be noon CST and 3 p.m. CST, regardless of the site.
Some of the contingencies were erased by the Monday night game involving the Washington Redskins and Los Angeles Rams.
A Washington victory clinched a playoff spot for the Redskins.
The loss does not eliminate the Rams from a Western title chance.
Three teams have clinched divisional titles. They are Cleveland, AFC Central; Kansas City, AFC West and Minnesota, NFC Central.

Baltimore and Miami, vying for the AFC East crown, both have assured themselves of playoff spots, with the team that fails to make the championship qualifying on its record.
The Dallas Cowboys have clinched a playoff berth. Should the Cowboys be beaten out by Washington for the NFC East title, they would become the fourth qualifier on their record.
Here is the playoff schedule:
SATURDAY, DEC. 25
Noon CST — NFC at Minnesota. NFC Eastern champion Dallas or Washington vs. NFC Central champion Minnesota.
3 p.m. CST — AFC at Kansas City. AFC Eastern champion Baltimore or Miami vs. AFC Western champion Kansas City. NBC will televise.
SUNDAY, DEC. 26
Noon CST — AFC at Cleveland. AFC fourth qualifier Baltimore or Miami vs. AFC Central champion Cleveland. NBC will televise.
3 p.m. CST — NFC at Los Angeles or San Francisco. NFC fourth qualifier Dallas or Washington vs. NFC Western champion Los Angeles or San Francisco. CBS will televise.

Creighton Falls, 90-68, To Wildcats

Manhattan, Kan. (AP) — Kansas State exploded for 52 second-half points to romp past Creighton, 90-68, Monday night.
The Wildcats held only a 38-37 halftime margin, and Creighton had led by as much as six points in the first half. K-State, sparked by 6-7 David Hall, outscored the Bluejays, 19-6, in the first six minutes of the second half and Creighton did not threaten again.
K-State, 4-2, led by as much as 25 points late in the game as 10 straight points ballooned a 71-56 lead into an 81-56 cushion at the 4:30 mark.
The Wildcats' sticky man-to-man defense forced Creighton, 3-2, into 28 turnovers.

Pay Hikes For Coaches Given OK

Raises granted Saturday to University of Nebraska-Lincoln assistant football coaches, although ranging as high as 13%, will not conflict with federal or state wage restrictions, a University official said Monday.
Howard Neville, executive vice president for administration, said the increases granted 10 coaches — while all over 5% — will meet requirements of Phase II of President Nixon's wage-price freeze.
Federal directives and conversations with the Omaha office of the Internal Revenue Service indicate the 5.5% limit is an average figure, Neville said. The University's average for its 7,000 to 8,000 employees does not exceed the limit.

The University also expects no problems from statehouse budget-setters. While the Legislature's budget committee has called for a $300 limit on average raises, the University's athletic fund is in an auxiliary account. Such auxiliary accounts do not involve state tax money and are not controlled so directly by the state senators.
The largest percentage increase at 13.6% went to Jim Walden, whose salary was raised from $11,000 to $12,500. The 10% raises went to Monte Kiffin, Warren Powers and Bill Thornton, whose salaries were set at $16,500, compared to $15,000 currently.
The other increases — all 6% — went from $18,000 to $19,000 — went to Mike Corgan, Cletus Fisher, John Melton, Tom Osborne, Jim Ross and Carl Selmer.

Coaches and players of Nebraska's top-ranked football team made themselves available for autographs Monday and the outpouring of fans — many of them youngsters shepherded by moms and dads — was estimated at upwards of 1,500.
For nearly three hours, coach Bob Devaney, his aides and squad members penned their names. There were estimates that more than 500 footballs were presented for signature and the run of footballs was so great many Lincoln stores reported themselves sold out.

Omaha's Take Golf Honors At Hawaii

Omaha's Jerry Chestnut and Bill Braun won low gross and low net honors, respectively, in a 54-hole handicap golf tournament conducted in conjunction with the Nebraska Amateur Golf Association's Hawaiian Tour for the NU-Hawaiian football game.
Other winners of trophies donated by Van Bloom Tour and Travel were Lincolnton Doug Jamison and Bill Fry for second and third low net, respectively.

Wilkinson Rejects Minnesota Position

Minneapolis, Minn. (AP) — Paul Geil appointed Ken Yackel as interim hockey coach of the Minnesota Gophers Monday, and said it would probably take about two weeks before he could find a new football coach.
Geil said he visited with Bud Wilkinson, former Gopher football player and Oklahoma coaching great, for four hours last week in Tulsa, Okla., about the vacant football job. Wilkinson rejected Geil's offer.

After 79 Years Of Football Cyclones Make Bowl Debut

... IOWA STATE MEETS LSU IN SUN BOWL

El Paso, Tex. (AP) — After 79 years of football, Iowa State makes its long-awaited bowl debut Saturday when it meets bowl-blooded Louisiana State in El Paso's 37th annual Sun Bowl.

The game will be televised nationally by CBS. Kickoff is set for noon, CST.

Saturday's game ushers in the bowl season, with the Liberty, Fiesta, Tangerine, Peach and Gator bowls following in quick succession, climaxed by the Sugar, Cotton, Rose and Orange bowls New Year's Day.

This year's Sun Bowl matchup should be a gem featuring a pair of teams that didn't reach their peaks until very late in the season.

Iowa State capped one of its most successful years by blasting Missouri, Oklahoma State and San Diego State on the last three weekends of the season to finish with an 8-3 record.

Louisiana State won three of its last four games, including a 28-3 victory over Notre Dame. The Bengals also fanned at 8-3.

While Iowa State never has played in a bowl game, post-season affairs are nothing new for LSU. The Bengals have played in 16 bowl games, including seven in the past 10 years under coach Charlie McClendon.

McClendon, who has compiled a 78-27 record at LSU, says his Bengals and Iowa State have similar personnel.

Iowa State isn't big, but as quick McClendon says and a well-disciplined defense for its success.

Traditionally, LSU has relied on a quick, aggressive defense for its success.

This year is no exception. Led by Cajun tackle Ronnie Estay and cornerback Tommy Casanova, the Bengal defense has allowed opponents just 12.5 points a game.

But McClendon says Iowa State will be tough to defense because of its versatile attack, built around halfback George Armondson and quarterback Dean Carlson.

Iowa State coach Johnny Majors feels Saturday's clash will be a severe test for Iowa State's offense.

"If we are able to move the ball with some consistency, we'll have a chance to win," the 'Big Eight Coach of the Year' said.
"The big thing about them is their defensive quickness. They showed that against Notre Dame," he noted.

Defensively, Iowa State has a solid, if not spectacular, unit. The Cyclones, noted for making the big defensive play this year, shut out two opponents while yielding an average of 19 points a game.

LSU's offense averaged 29.1 points a game this year, one of the finest point productions in McClendon's term as coach.

The quarterback combination of Bert Jones and Paul Lyons threw 20 touchdown passes this year, with flanker Andy Hamilton on the receiving end of nine.

Brown Peps Missouri By St. Francis, 104-96

Columbia, Mo. (AP) — John Brown funneled in 32 points before fouling out late in the game to lead undefeated Missouri to its sixth straight triumph, 104-96 over St. Francis College of Pennsylvania Monday night.
Missouri shot to a 15-point lead 3:30 before halftime but the Frankies rallied quickly and trailed 53-43 at intermission.
The ragged contest had 60 fouls called, 36 of them against St. Francis, and a total of 47 turnovers, 24 by the losers. The two teams attempted 53 free throws.

St. Francis coach Dick Conover was charged with three technical fouls and was ejected early in the second half, with the Tigers holding a 62-46 lead.
Conover got the thumb after guard Joe Hazinsky was charged with an offensive foul and the coach protested until he had drawn the three technicals.
Brown picked up his fourth foul with 10:41 remaining in the second half and sat out until four minutes remained, but the 6-7 junior center had gotten 23 points in the first half. His 32 points is a career high.

'Mobile Sleigh' Delights Youngsters

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau
Superior — Thirteen years isn't long as Santos go, but it still adds up to quite a trail of smiles.

For Gene Karmazin, a salesman of Chicago correspondence courses except for a month's leave of absence every Christmas, the trail has led through eight states. His Superior-based "mobile sleigh" is believed to be the only such rig in the Midwest.

Booked by Chambers of Commerce and other promotional groups since 1958, the unique vehicle has averaged close to two dozen towns a year giving rides to youngsters. Up to 50 at a time can be seated in the "sleigh," actually a dual-wheeled truck with an optional weather canopy.

Five chain-driven reindeer lope in front, and always Santa is at hand dispensing candy and Yule chatter. For five years Dale Baxa, a farmer south of Superior, has been the elf driver who also alternates as Santa.

"I can remember some of the kids from one year to the next, though they sure grow up fast," said Karmazin. "But fortunately for old Santa, there's always a new crop."

Until higher operating costs caught up with him, he had run two of the units. Both were so adapted that they were limited to the special use.

Although they naturally operate for profit, the men also find a real service in their appearances. Two favorite stops are at the Beatrice State Home and a similar facility for the handicapped at Glenwood, Iowa.

"One little girl at Beatrice asks me for a ball every year, though I know she always gets one," said Karmazin. "And one boy there is always mad at me because I told him one year I'd take him to the North Pole and then didn't do it."

Karmazin's biggest moment this year, however, came when he donned suit and whiskers for his one-year-old daughter.

"Mrs. Claus and I had four teen-agers when this little one came along," he said with a wink. "Ho, ho, ho!"

Sioux City Journal Sale Announced

Sioux City, (P) — Ownership of the 108-year-old Sioux City Journal will change hands Wednesday, according to an announcement in the newspaper's Tuesday morning editions.

A spokesman for the Journal-Tribune Publishing Co., former owners of the business, said the new corporate entity, Sioux City Newspapers, Inc., is a joint venture of Robert Howard of Howard Publications and Duane Hagedorn, a division of Scripps League Newspapers, Inc.

Staff members of the newspaper said they were given an announcement Monday night for placement in Tuesday morning's editions. They said that was the first they knew the sale had been completed.

The announcement was signed by the former president and publisher, Elizabeth Sammons.

The announcement said "Tomorrow's issue of the Journal will have the same format and type face, but will be under new ownership."

Editorial employees said they did not know if the new owners planned to keep the current staff or make changes.

The Sioux City Journal, a spokesman noted, was probably the oldest home-owned business in the community.

The announcement carried no indication of the sale price and did not mention reasons for the transaction.

Medical Unit Chief Sought By Committee

University of Nebraska president D. B. Varner said Monday the NU board of regents will appoint an interim chancellor of the NU medical center in Omaha when Dr. Cecil Wittson retires effective Feb. 1.

Varner confirmed that a special search committee had last month drawn up a list of five to seven names to succeed Wittson and said the committee is "moving with speed, and hopes at an early date to have someone."

The committee includes two medical doctors and is giving the selection "diligent search," Varner said.

Wittson's retirement was approved Saturday by the regents. He will reach the mandatory retirement age of 65 next July.

The interim appointment is expected to be made at the next regents meeting Jan. 8.

Nebraskan Said Missing Or Dead

The Nebraskan, listed as missing to dead-non-hostile, was PFC Vincent Bernal, son of Mr. Julio Bernal Sr., Rt. 2, Minatare.

Croatia Has New Leaders

Belgrade (UPI) — Communists pledging full support to President Tito Monday night replaced the leadership of Yugoslav Croatia, which bowed to charges of being too soft on "destructive nationalists" and resigned.

Tiny Sports Car Gaining Acceptance

Madison (AP) — Suburban Motors, Inc., of Madison, isn't one of the big three of the auto industry, but it probably is the

No. 1 auto manufacturer in Nebraska.

Suburban Motors is the hatching place of the "Safari,"

Husband, Wife Found Dead In Southwest Omaha Home

Omaha (UPI) — Sheriff's deputies were awaiting autopsy results Monday to determine the cause of death of Sanford Spratlen, 40, whose body was found in his southwest Omaha home Sunday afternoon.

Spratlen's wife, Bonnie, 46, apparently took her own life, dying of carbon monoxide poisoning.

Spratlen was recently retired from the Marine Corps and had been employed as a guard at the Federal Reserve Bank.

He was found lying on a couch in the living room. Deputies said there was no sign of a struggle at the house.

They speculated he might have died from carbon monoxide seeping into the living room from the downstairs garage.

Mrs. Spratlen's body was found inside a car in the garage. The windows in the vehicle were rolled up and the ignition key was on. The car had run out of gas.

A four-page handwritten "last will and testament" was found on a desk in an upstairs room. It was dated Friday and apparently had been written by Mrs. Spratlen. It did not indicate that death was imminent, deputies said.

a tiny sports car built from the tires up by company owner and chief mechanic Jim Housel.

Not a toy, the tiny Safari is fully licensable to drive on the highway and will move down the road at 40 to 50 miles an hour.

It weighs less than 1,000 lbs. and will squeeze 40 miles or more from a gallon of gas.

"I designed this car for sports and recreation," Housel says, "and also useful transportation. You can go shopping with it and park it anywhere you could park a motorcycle."

The car sells for $1,180 at the factory, including removable top and heater. Coil spring suspension, four wheel disc brakes, turn signals and flashers and dual master brake cylinders are standard equipment on the vehicle.

The tiny Safari is powered by a 14 hp Briggs and Stratton engine.

Builder Housel is a former machine designer and has been in the farm equipment business here. He built his first Safari about 2½ years ago as a hobby.

"But I was half serious about it," he says. "I've always had the idea I'd like to get into light industry."

Since the car body is made of fiberglass, a moulding and fabricating facility was set up in the plant.

400 Inquiries
"People have shown a lot of interest and that's mainly why I'm doing this," Housel says. "An ad in the Wall Street Journal concerning our car brought more than 400 inquiries and people stop in here all the time to look and ask."

A modified version of the car is in the works and will be built along the lines of a dune buggy with fewer accessories and a lower price tag. Current plans are to market the new model through dealerships and sell the current model on a factory-direct basis.

KETTERING KILLED

Wealthy Charles F. Kettering II of Denver, Colo., was struck and killed by a car when he tried to retrieve his pet dog which had been hit by another car earlier. Kettering, 40, was the grandson of the late Charles F. Kettering, a long-time vice president of General Motors Corp.

Anti-Trust Suit Is Filed Against ADM, 2 Others

Washington (AP) — The Justice Department filed an anti-trust suit against companies in Kansas, Nebraska and Illinois Monday attempting to break up what it said was an anti-competitive arrangement in the soybean business in those states.

Named as defendants in the civil suit were Archer Daniels Midland Co., Decatur, Ill.; Kansas Soya Products Company, Inc.; Emporia, Kan.; and Fremont Cattle and Meat Company, Inc., Fremont, Neb.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell said the take-over by the Illinois firm of the two others violated federal antitrust laws by eliminating competition in the production and sale of soybean meal and other products in Kansas and Nebraska.

Soybeans, the nation's second largest agricultural crop and largest export item, is used for livestock and poultry feed and some products eaten by humans.

The suit filed in U.S. district court in Kansas City asks that Archer Daniels be forced to rescind its takeover of the other two firms. It also asks that Archer Daniels be prohibited from taking over any other soybean operation within 150 miles of Kansas and Nebraska for the next ten years.

IT'S... VERY BUSINESS-LIKE, MRS. WORTH!

NO... COMING FROM SOMEONE LIKE ELTON, THIS REALLY SHOWS DEEP EMOTION, LORI!

Dear Lori, Maybe I am not the man I should be. Maybe I should find Hank Pendleton and beat him unconscious. But that would only cause ugly talk about you. I love you, more than I have ever been able to tell you, Lori. And I want you to have a good life, no matter how you choose to live it. So, by going away, I am giving you grounds for a quiet divorce. You can communicate with me through my lawyer, Mark Samuels. Elton

MEANWHILE, AUST'S EARLY LIFE PASSES BEFORE KIRBY'S EYES.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is six or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message under the checked figures given you.
